The synagogue.
It don't seem to make much difference with some people about the heavens declarin' the glory of God, and the firmament showin' His handiwork—they rush through life just as if there wasn't a flower in the field, a bird in the tree, a cloud on the horizon, or a star in the sky.

Some of 'em never get their head above a cash register or their eye off an interest table, and as for getting their answer to a human equation problem they try and get it out of an addin' machine. If it isn't there they try something else material, when the whole question is a spiritual matter.

Many of them think they are going to find the more abundant life in the stock market, and they come out of it like the prodigal son. They go in full dressed and emerge like the shorn lamb.

Modern man is trying to invalidate God's command to eat bread in the sweat of his face, so he gets his name on a help-ne roll, and wants someone to bring it to him. If there isn't any butter on it he starts a sit-down strike, and then a lot of other people go hungry.

Lot o' fellows who never heard of the Golden Rule wouldn't fall in love with it when they found out they were getting a livin' off the neighbors property. They want to eat, drink and be merry, whether it's Jack Benny or Nero doin' the fiddlin'.

I am still in favor of those people who do not like our country, going to one they like better. It will make that much more room for those who want to stay here and raise rabbits, as less hell.

Moreover, little children, beware of the racketeer, whether in labor, society or business. He tells not, but he spins a web of deceit into which it will be difficult for you to extricate yourself.

Blessed be the contented, for they contribute to the tranquility of society, and lighten the daily toil.

A good name is rather to be chosen than great riches, but many there be who have not found it out.

Remember, your face will shine with greater glory if your system is filled with love and kindness, than if you cover it with cosmetics.

"Blessed are the peacemakers, for they shall inherit the earth," and boy, how we need 'em.

Too many people livin' on the eat, drink and be merry schedule, and get a traffic ticket for so doin'.

We have a lot of Good Samaritans in this old world, but they are being imposed upon. Trouble is we got too much indolence lying by the side of the road, when it ought to be standin' up.

They're willing the other fellow should carry the cross of burden if they can ride in the chariot of ease.

Life is worth living if you live right. But if you belong to the absorption squad you won't be much use to anybody, and only impose a burden on some one else. There are worthy cases of charity, worthy cases where it isn't charity. But so long as the old thinking station is functioning normally, and the physique will sustain the load, you better do your part toward solving the economic situation, which is more than food, shelter and indulgences.

Verily, verily, I say unto, beware of the prosperity just around the corner. It may not be there when you arrive.

And there was great lamentation throughout the land when the tax bills came in and you found out you were paying for some-

ORANGE AND SANTA ANA SHOPS RAIDED

Owners Stop Play on Other Devices

A new war on marble games, punchboards and slot machines in Orange county—which started as a small skirmish Thursday—had developed into a major offensive today, with Sheriff Logan Jackson handling the entire attack.

Jackson's deputies struck suddenly in two incorporated cities yesterday, confiscating more than two dozen assorted "gambling" devices in Santa Ana and Orange, after assertedly asking police in both cities to join the raids.

OPERATORS HITTERY
Scores of other machines were voluntarily locked up by wary operators who apparently had been made jittery by earlier raids in unincorporated areas, and Jackson believed all of the nickel-collecting devices had been taken out of operation by today.

Four establishments in Santa Ana were raided and 10 marble games, seven punchboards and one slot machine simultaneously seized at 2 p. m. yesterday, after deputies had raided four other establishments in Orange.

Machines were confiscated at the Francis Weinburg cafe, 616 East Fourth street; Schockley's cafe, 408 East Fourth street; Pampas poolroom, 316 East Fourth street; and Walker's liquor store, 506 North Main street, in Santa Ana, and at the Perez and Orange cafes and Dittmers and Harms drug stores in Orange.

Jackson told The Journal he had called Santa Ana police at 1:45 p. m. yesterday, inviting them to participate in the raid at 2 p. m. Except for the 15-minute warning, he said, the raids came as a complete surprise to all officers.

Several cafe proprietors disposed of their marble machines and punchboards early yesterday afternoon, when they apparently were apprehensive over earlier confiscations in four outlying districts or had received word that some other Santa Ana machine operators had been raided.

CHIEF SILENT
Police Chief Floyd W. Howard declined to comment on the Sheriff's raids in Santa Ana, although he said Jackson had never asked the police to cooperate with his county-wide drive by making the raids themselves.

Asst. Police Chief Harry Fink said he had been contacted just before the raids were made, but he had asked Jackson to postpone action until Chief Howard returned to the office.

Both Howard and Fink said Santa Ana police had received no complaints about the way marble machines were operating since the last campaign, which Jackson led last winter.

George Franzen, Orange chief of police, was invited to participate in the raids in that city, Jackson said.

There also was a petition by three Florida companies seeking reconsideration of recent action by the tribunal on the ground that Justice Hugo L. Black was ineligible to sit on the bench.

A conference on about 60 petitions was in preparation for a session Monday at which the first opinions of this term will be delivered. One or more of them may be by Justice Black.

COURT MAY REVIEW STRIKE

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The supreme court undertook today to decide whether to review litigation involving constitutionality of sit-down strikes.

There also was a petition by three Florida companies seeking reconsideration of recent action by the tribunal on the ground that Justice Hugo L. Black was ineligible to sit on the bench.

A conference on about 60 petitions was in preparation for a session Monday at which the first opinions of this term will be delivered. One or more of them may be by Justice Black.

Famed English Actor Succumbs

LONDON. (AP)—Sir Johnston Forbes-Robertson, a general actor of the great figures of the English stage, died today at his home at St. Margaret's Bay, near Dover.

At his bedside were his wife and three daughters, including Diana Sheean, who is the wife of the United States author, Vincent Sheean.

The famed actor was 84 years old.

Italy Joins Anti-Red Pact

Tragedy

Ben Ipock, 24, farmhand near Springfield, Mo., fell in love with Mary Lee Williams, 21, and wanted to marry her. Suddenly they learned they were brother and sister, orphaned as infants, placed in a county home at Jefferson City and later adopted into separate families. Then they admitted they had already been secretly married. Their marriage has been annulled.

SPEEDBOATS VIE AT N. B.

Flying spray and roaring motors on Newport Bay tomorrow will open the second year's competition in revived Gold Cup races, which are expected to draw the largest field of competitors in the history of the famous event.

The fastest boats on the Pacific coast will compete tomorrow, craft capable of exceeding 80 miles an hour. Experts said today that if the highly-tuned Gold Cuppers perform properly, the present world speed record for 785 cubic-inch motors, 70 miles an hour, probably will be broken.

In addition to the large speedsters, smaller 225-cubic-inch racers will compete for the Pacific coast championship with their larger brothers. The present record holder, Miss Arcadia, owned by Miss Dorothy Munson of Arcadia, will compete with several new and perhaps faster boats, officials announced today.

NEWCOMERS
Several new Gold Cup racers, as yet untried in actual racing, will compete tomorrow. Dick Loyne of Long Beach, long known as one of the most formidable racers in the eastern races, will enter his Californian, known to be capable of exceeding 75 miles an hour.

DUKE PLANNING SOVIET TOUR

PARIS. (AP)—The Duke of Windsor is considering a journey to Soviet Russia to balance his recent tour of Nazi Germany, a person close to the royal pair said tonight.

The purpose of such a journey, it was said, would be to show the world that the former king of England plays no politics. It would be an extension of his European labor survey and might also include Scandinavia, Europe's neutral zone.

Previously a member of the duke's suite said one reason for that postponement was the feeling of some members of the royal party that United States officials had taken a "lukewarm attitude" toward the former's king visit.

NEW SALARY LAW DEFIED BY SHERIFF

Jackson, Others Fail To Turn in Fees

Sheriff Logan Jackson, largest fee-collector of county officials, today, a provision of the ordinance salary ordinance squabble as he flaunted provisions of the supervisors' much-battered new law. Jackson, permitted by the ordinance to retain $209 in fees each month besides his $250 yearly salary, has failed to account for fees he did not turn in, it was learned today. A provision of the ordinance makes it mandatory that the sheriff account for all receipts, even though he keeps some of them.

MAY BRING SUIT
Supervisors now may sue Jackson or other officials who get fees, to test the ordinance, some sections of which have been labeled invalid by Dist. Atty. W. F. Menton.

Menton has ruled that taking fees away from officials, then handing part of them back, is increasing compensation during the officials' term of office and is therefore unconstitutional.

The county officials whose fees were cut off "inhumane conduct" when the new law was written have challenged the ordinance, too.

Father Jailed While Son Dies

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A grand jury today recommended "disciplinary punishment" for police officers responsible for "inhumane conduct" in not permitting Vance Harrell to communicate with his family while his 3-year-old son was dying.

Harrell charged police held him incommunicado 19 hours despite his story a prescription waiting at a drug store might have saved young Charles Harrell's life.

Do Scales Lie? Penny Weighers Puzzle Cop

By BOB GUILD
Penny scales.
For once, madam, you can get your fortune told but you won't find out how much you weigh. You'll probably get within four or five pounds of the answer, but you won't find out.

Detective Lieutenant Hunter Leach, for instance, doesn't know whether he weighs 245 pounds or 250 pounds. Five scales gave him five different answers today. Secret—last year he weighed 280 pounds.

We went on a weighing crusade. A reporter spent seven cents and got four free rides. He didn't find out how much he weighed, either.

He did find out he would be married twice, have three children, live to a ripe old age, was very talented, and no doubt would die rich.

A POPULAR PASTIME
People like to get on scales. The reporter and Hunter Leach discovered that somebody always climbed on the scales right after them. They also discovered that "Aunt Mamie is going off to tomato juice and trying pineapple juice for a while. . . Joe lost his job last week. . . Some of these scales don't have hooks to hang things on. They should. . . This scale is wrong! I know perfectly well I haven't gained five pounds in two weeks! . . ."

And other things. There are several hundred of these scales in Orange county today, and they are supposed to tell within seven and a half ounces of the truth, but they don't.

SCANDALOUS DISCOVERY!
Dixon W. Tubbs, county agricultural commissioner, also is a fellow who weighs the big ax for the department of weights and measures. Tubbs said the results of Hunter Leach's crusade were scandalous, but not amazing.

SIGNS TREATY WITH JAPAN, GERMANY

Declares Communism Still World Menace

ROME. (AP)—Italy joined Japan and Germany today in an accord against communism which their protocol declared "continues to place the civilized world" in the "constant" danger of war.

The protocol stipulated that Italy be considered an original signatory of the nearly year-old German-Japanese pact against the communist international.

The protocol was a short document, giving in a 150-word introductory statement the three powers' reasons for the agreement.

The introduction declared that only by close collaboration of "all states interested in maintaining peace" would the war danger be removed.

It paid a separate tribute to Italy which "has combated this danger with an inflexible determination and has eliminated international communism from its territory."

CLAUSES TOLD
Italy had decided, the introduction went on, to associate herself with Germany and Japan "who on their part are animated by the same will to defend themselves against the communist international."

Four brief articles were appended after the introductory statement, setting forth these clauses:

1. Italy enters the anti-communist agreement of Nov. 11, 1936.

2. Italy will be considered as a (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2)

Escapes Clutches of Octopus

While hunting abalones near Ft. Bragg, Calif., Mrs. H. C. Graves (left) was grasped by the powerful tentacles of a giant octopus which encircled her body and tried to drag her beneath the sea until she and her companions beat it to death with heavy iron bars. At right is Mrs. Gladys Christie, her sister, who helped kill the creature. In front is her nephew, Kenneth Prarat.

JAPANESE IN NEW ATTACK

SHANGHAI. (AP)—China's main defenses west of Shanghai were put in serious jeopardy, foreign military experts declared today, by the landing of a formidable Japanese force on the north shore of Hangchow bay.

Japanese said large army units, aimed at encircling Shanghai and its environs, came ashore from the bay, the largest on the Chinese coast and about 30 miles south of Shanghai at its nearest point.

A Japanese army spokesman declared that the new unit, "fighting every inch of the way" for about 18 miles, tonight had reached the south bank of the Wangpoo river about 25 hours after coming ashore.

3000 LAND
Chinese sources acknowledged that 3000 Japanese had landed in the Hangchow bay area and had met stiff Chinese resistance at Sungyin, within about five miles of Sunkiang, an important point in the Chinese defense, about 20 miles southwest of Shanghai.

"Many more transports" had arrived in the bay, the Chinese declared. With the departure of Southern Methodist missionaries after Japanese air bombers had destroyed half of Sunkiang, heavily damaging mission properties, no foreigners were known to remain in the city.

The Japanese reports of a swift drive north were believed to indicate a possibly decisive battle was (Continued on Page 2, Col. 6)

HOPE HELD IN LABOR FEUD

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Organized labor's peace negotiators, beginning a week-end recess, showed more optimism today than at any time in recent weeks.

Although none of the 10 CIO or three A. F. of L. delegates to the peace conference would say a reconciliation was in sight, all reported progress in reaching the heart of their problem—jurisdiction of conflicting unions.

Should the delegates agree on the fields each faction would control, informed persons said the CIO representatives would demand proof that the Federation's three executive committee members can speak authoritatively for the A. F. of L. unions that might be affected.

The Federation gave its representatives, headed by President George Harrison of the railway clerks, sweeping authority to negotiate. Some representatives of CIO Chairman John L. Lewis are known, however, to doubt that they could order a specific union to surrender its members to the CIO.

GALLOWS FOR ANNA HAHN

CINCINNATI. (AP)—Mrs. Anna Hahn, 31-year-old blonde mother, was convicted of first degree murder today in the poison death of Jacob Wagner, 78-year-old retired gardener. The jury did not recommend mercy, making the death penalty mandatory.

The jurors spent about two and one-half hours in actual deliberation, since receiving the case last night.

Mrs. Hahn would be the first woman ever executed in Ohio.

POLICE KILL L. A. GUNMAN

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Sheriff's Deputy John H. Welver, 33 years of age, was critically wounded early today by a man suspected of robbery. The suspect a few moments later fell dead with a bullet through his heart when he attempted to shoot it out with two other deputies, J. J. Melendres and H. W. Thompson.

The dead man was identified as Adolpho Cortez, of Belvedere. As he was driving home Deputy Welver noticed two men, who answered the descriptions of oil station robbers. He stepped from his automobile to question them and one of the men started firing. The deputy fell with a bullet wound in the head.

Melendres and Thompson, in a sheriff's radio patrol car, arrived to find Cortez standing over the fallen officer with a revolver in his hand. Cortez started to run, and when the deputies opened fire, he attempted to shoot it out with them.

Cortez's companion, who fled during the shooting, was later arrested. He gave his name as Henry Ramirez, 24 years of age.

DECKERT DIRECTS
The title of show director was given to Dale Deckert at yesterday's meeting. Deckert was instigator of the last show. Oliver Lindemeyer will be in charge of grounds. Dolph Kelsey will be his chief assistant.

Floyd Martin will be in charge of the field at the Martin Airport the day of the air meet. E. M. Sundquist will head the reception committee. Jesse Elliott will be in charge of policing.

Ole Hanson III in L. A. Hospital

The father of San Clemente, 63-year-old Ole Hanson, was recovering today in Good Samaritan hospital, Los Angeles, from the effects of a major operation performed Thursday. The Journal was informed.

The former mayor of Seattle and stormy petrel of Southern California political circles was reported "recovering rapidly." The surgery was performed by Dr. Arthur Cecil, who said that Hanson will be able to leave the hospital next week.

AMES ORDERS COURT TEST ON NOV. 12

Restraining Order In Effect Today

Staking the success of their venture on a sudden, bold legal move, managers of the Santa Ana Forwarding company, betting agency at 416 West Fourth street, today obtained a superior court order guaranteeing their right to stay open—at least until Nov. 12.

The "bookie" concern served a restraining order signed by Superior Judge H. G. Ames on the local police, sheriff's office, state authorities and civil forces which might seek to close them.

NAMES HOWARD, JACKSON
The order specifically names Chief of Police Floyd Howard and Sheriff Logan Jackson, preventing them from taking any action against the agency until the formal court hearing, the day after Armistice day.

Opening of the betting agency, which plans to handle wagers on California tracks, had been delayed since Tuesday, when it was first scheduled to begin accepting customers' $2—with a 10 per cent commission for forwarding the bets.

WARNING GIVEN
The city groups, headed by Councilmen and other officials, had announced earlier this week that "every means possible" would be taken to keep the concern from operating here.

Similar agencies have suffered at the hands of the law in the past, Sheriff Jackson having conducted the majority of raids against them.

AIR SHOW SET FOR JUNE 19

Santa Ana's second great aviation show will be held next June 19.

The date was set definitely at a meeting of the chamber of commerce aviation committee yesterday afternoon in chamber headquarters in the courthouse annex.

Members of the committee met to set the date and discuss various ramifications for the big air show, which is expected to surpass even the outstanding success of the first venture last June.

CONFERENCE PLAN
Plans also were discussed for holding a Southern California aviation conference on the Saturday preceding Sunday, June 19. Members of the aviation committee will contact aviation leaders throughout the Southland to determine popularity of the conference plan.

It was decided that a free barbecue will be given for pilots and their guests who attend this year's air show in planes. This was one of the most successful events of the last show, which attracted thousands of spectators.

DECKERT DIRECTS
The title of show director was given to Dale Deckert at yesterday's meeting. Deckert was instigator of the last show. Oliver Lindemeyer will be in charge of grounds. Dolph Kelsey will be his chief assistant.

Floyd Martin will be in charge of the field at the Martin Airport the day of the air meet. E. M. Sundquist will head the reception committee. Jesse Elliott will be in charge of policing.

SUPERVISORS SEEK TO ABOLISH OFFICIAL COURT REPORTERS

PLAN DOOMED BY SPECIAL STATE LAW

Board Wants to Use Cheaper Help

Having lusted before into places where angels fear to tread, and only the state legislature is qualified to tip toe, Orange county's supervisors today were considering another move over which it is claimed they have no jurisdiction.

At least one member of the board wants to abolish the time-honored official court reporters, and substitute $100-a-month stenographers.

HANDS DIED
Their idea is doomed. State law provides for the official shorthand reporters, who take verbatim testimony in civil and criminal cases, sets up their compensation, and requires examinations and certification by judges of the superior court. All the county can do is to pay the fees required by law; and the supervisors can do nothing else.

Even should the supervisors have authority, which they have not, to change the pay and therefore the personnel of the reporting staff, local judges would not certify to transcription prepared by the ordinary stenographer. The work, it was explained, is too exacting and too difficult to be handled by anyone without years of training and experience.

FOUR REPORTERS
The four reporters at the courthouse—Lester Slusick, W. J. White, L. A. Ross and B. A. Swannick—may earn as much as $22.50 a day under the law. Such cases are seldom, however, and would occur only if the reporter took testimony in two default cases and a contested action. Many days they earn nothing, and if the judge of their court is away for a vacation or on another bench, months may go by without fees amounting to a living wage.

Most fees are not paid by the county. Parties to civil suits pay the reporters' fees, and only in criminal actions is the county out a cent.

"Shorthand reporters," one official pointed out, "are officers of the court. The supervisors haven't any authority over them any more than they could bring in a $100 a month law clerk and make him a judge."

TEXT OF JAPANESE MESSAGE FORMED
BRUSSELS. (AP)—Delegates to the Brussels conference on the Chinese-Japanese war announced today they had reached agreement on the text of a communication to Japan, making a new offer of their friendly offices in an effort to terminate the conflict.

The communication had been framed by Belgian Foreign Minister Paul Spaak at behest of the full conference.

The note is to be transmitted immediately to Tokyo through the Belgian ambassador there, Baron Albert de Bassompierre, and through the Japanese ambassador here, Saburo Kurusu.

Delegates said the note constituted a peace appeal which Japan will find it hard to reject if peace with China is really her intention.

The communication left it to Japan to decide whether she would "collaborate with the conference in a search for peace or with a small number of powers."

Delegates explained this would permit conciliation moves by anybody by the conference, by a committee of the conference or by a few powers, like the United States or Great Britain, which might act independently.

It would even permit mediation by Chancellor Adolf Hitler of Germany, of which there have been reports from Berlin.

Japan was informed that while the conference is disposed to discuss the points raised by Japan when she declined the Belgian invitation to join it, all powers signatory to or adhering to the nine-power treaty—under which the conference was called—have a voice in the Far Eastern situation.

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Joseph D. Gennusa, 64, a laborer, was thrown for the loss of his pistol when Football Coach Cecil L. Schnelle tackled him on the Willoughby high school grounds.

Schnelle claimed Gennusa had fired four shots into the air when he was surrounded by students yesterday. Gennusa was booked by sheriff's officers on suspicion of intoxication, carrying a concealed weapon and illegally exhibiting firearms. Officers said he told them he had been teased and molested by students.

S. A. DEMOS WELCOME SEN. M'ADOO

Big-shot Democrats of Orange county (and political employees of the Bourbon regime) gathered in headquarters of the Young Democrats yesterday afternoon to give Senator William Gibbs McAdoo an enthusiastic welcome to Santa Ana.

Passing through this city on the way to San Diego, the United States senator paused here for about an hour to talk with his Democratic friends and supporters.

Chairman B. Z. McKinney of the Orange county Democratic central committee presided at the meeting, and introduced the prominent Democrats who heard the senator speak.

McAdoo outlined briefly some of the specific problems on which he has worked for Orange county, including the big flood control and water conservation project. He lauded President Roosevelt for his vision and program in conserving natural resources.

He touched briefly on politics, urging the Democrats to unite in electing a Democratic governor in California at the next election. He said that it also would be a good idea to elect a Democratic senator to the national congress, smiling as he said this.

McAdoo came to Santa Ana in company with Hamilton H. Cotton, San Clemente, prominent Democratic leader.

RAILROADS ASK MORE REVENUE

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Executives of the nation's class one railroads told the interstate commerce commission today their lines need $508,000,000 more income to meet increases in payrolls, taxes and supplies.

The margin between income and operating expenses has been squeezed so thin, they said in a petition to boost freight rates and passenger fares, that rail systems face a crisis.

They asked for a flat increase of 15 per cent on freight rates and an increase in passenger fares in Eastern territory from 2 to 2½ cents a mile.

The flat freight increase would not apply on five major commodities, on which certain maximums were asked. These were coal and coke, lumber, fruits and vegetables and sugar.

Spectacles for Chickens are Latest Fad
ARCADIA. (AP)—The Cridlebough brothers, Clyde and J. Clayton, have come out with spectacles for chickens.

They look like spectacles, that is, but are made of metal and are used much like blinders on horses. Young hens, as they approach the laying age, said the Cridleboughs, begin pecking each other, pulling out feathers and even becoming cannibalistic. Cockerels, too, often become regular bullies. So, the "hen specs."

Fowls wearing them can see to eat and drink, but when it comes to picking a fight they can't see very well where to peck.

Eyeston Hits 310-Mile Speed
BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah. (AP)—Captain George E. T. Eyeston sped his ponderous "Thunderbolt" through the measured mile today at approximately 310 miles per hour, but mechanical trouble once more broke up his assault on the world's land speed record.

The intrepid retired British army officer flashed through the kilometer at 310.685 miles per hour on the southwest to northeast run but the "electric eye" timing device, being used the first time by the American Auto Association for high speed timing, recorded only 303.205 miles per hour for the measured mile.

U. S. Freighter Collides at Sea
CALAIS, France. (AP)—The United States shipping board freighter Independence Hall collided today with the French fishing schooner Saint Louis in a channel fog off Cape Griz Nez.

Three seamen were reported missing from the schooner. First reports said the American vessel was not damaged. The Independence Hall was due this morning at Dunkerque from New York via Le Havre.

Coach Tackles Pistol-Shooter
LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Joseph D. Gennusa, 64, a laborer, was thrown for the loss of his pistol when Football Coach Cecil L. Schnelle tackled him on the Willoughby high school grounds.

Schnelle claimed Gennusa had fired four shots into the air when he was surrounded by students yesterday. Gennusa was booked by sheriff's officers on suspicion of intoxication, carrying a concealed weapon and illegally exhibiting firearms. Officers said he told them he had been teased and molested by students.

SKINNY SKRIBBLES

thing which someone had previously told you was a gift.

Day unto day uttereth speech, and if it doesn't come from a politician it's worth listening to.

Blessed is the man who can meet his obligations—and will.

Keep smilin'. You'll get another chance to vote.

Out of the obscure places we often get strong leadership. History not only repeats itself but it furnishes some astonishing contradictions. Who is this man, Dewey, anyway?

And with malice toward none, and charity toward all, do your best to change the evil to the good, and if life isn't worth living under those conditions, well, maybe you might want to change the conditions. But if you do let me know in time so I can make a change myself.

Happy days are here again, says the politician. Seek, that ye may find. If you find something better, tell me. I sort o' like that kind of atmosphere, and I'd like to join you.

And finally, little children, keep your chin up, and remember the Creator in the days of thy youth. From what I observe you'll need His protecting care later on.

Naked Chinese Nabbed at Port
SAN PEDRO. (AP)—Clad only in a narrow leather belt, an unidentified Chinese was in custody of immigration authorities here today.

The statement of officials declared the man jumped from the British tanker Sepia and swam the harbor channel in a vain effort to gain illegal residence in the United States. Oversight in not bringing his clothes along resulted in arrest.

Poison for Politicians Is Noble's Plan

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Robert Noble, 40, announced candidate for governor on his "$25 every Monday morning" pension plan, has chosen the campaign slogan: "Poison the politicians and purify the state."

Resting on the shoulders of followers yesterday outside the courtroom where he is being tried on misdemeanor charges, Noble shouted this would be his battle cry.

Meanwhile Police Capt. Earl E. Kynette testified he had exploded a tear gas bomb in attempting to disperse 300 of Noble's faithful who were staging a demonstration in front of a radio station last Oct. 17.

Noble, Mrs. Vola Moore, Maggie Dee, Theodore Hall and Ferdinand A. Kampa are being tried on charges of blocking a sidewalk, holding a parade without a permit and refusing to disperse.

SHERIFF DEFIES SALARY LAW

Yesterday was the last day for them to turn in fees.

County Treasurer T. E. Stephenson, who is allowed to keep $45 in fees each month besides his $3060 yearly salary, may simply retain his fees from the state on inheritance tax collections. At any rate, he has not informed Auditor W. T. Lambert of transferring fees into the county's pocket.

OTHER OFFICIALS
Coroner Earl Abbey was paid his money for inquests, at the rate of $10 each, but has not accounted for his fees as public administrator. The ordinance lets him get a maximum total compensation of $3600 a year.

Recorder J. Fred Sidebottom, whose fees are paid quarterly, was not affected by today's developments. He is to get $135 in fees each quarter, with the rest turned in to the treasury.

The "put and take" fee idea was developed when supervisors found they could not raise salaries of elective officials during their term of office. Menton ruled it illegal, and the stage was set today for a court case which will figure out the mess.

UP TO BOARD
It is now up to the supervisors, if they want to test their ordinance, to file suit against Jackson for an accounting of the fees he may have kept, or to do the same thing against Abbey or Stephenson.

County Health Officer K. H. Sutherland, who gets vital statistics fees, may also be affected by the ordinance, it was discovered today, but probably will not come into the picture when the question is fought out in the courts.

Colleen Moore's Cook Is Freed
LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Mrs. June Burch, former cook for Colleen Moore, was free today of charges of forging the one-time screen actress' name to charge account slips totaling $174. Miss Moore failed to appear in court against her yesterday and the case was dismissed.

40 ROYALIST PLANES STRIKE BACK AT SPANISH REBELS

ZARAGOZA IS BOMBED BY RAIDERS

Attack May Delay Franco's Offensive

HENDAYE, Franco-Spanish Frontier. (P)—Forty fast warplanes were reported today to have struck at Zaragoza, the heart of the insurgent offensive in Northeastern Spain.

Government reports said bombs caused terrific explosions and fires and had crashed into a large munitions depot at Zaragoza, headquarters of the insurgent forces now strategically massed to smash into government Spain.

In yesterday's aerial combat insurgents raided supply stations at Barbastro, a key government defense position, east of the insurgent headquarters, and the Catalan village of San Felix De Guixol.

Extent of the damage in Zaragoza was not made known. Government reports said the Franco forces occupied the first of the key positions when they clamped a siege on Madrid. The success in the Jaca sector completed the task of winning what observers believed to be the necessary positions for domination of all Spain. The insurgents were believed ready today for the final drive.

Talks to Realtors On Stabilizing Of Land Values

The effect of various pieces of federal farm legislation on stabilizing land values was discussed in a talk by assistant Farm Advisor W. M. Cory at yesterday's weekly luncheon meeting of the Santa Ana Realty board in the Rossmore cafe.

Listing the various factors that affect land values, Cory described the various federal programs: a farm loan, production credit association, AAA, soil conservation act and erosion control work — emphasizing their relation to valuation of land.

Value is established, Cory said, by five economic factors—native productivity of soil, topography, cost of getting water, crop adaptability and accessibility to a consumer market—and by four other elements, including public utility services, taxes and the amount of bonded indebtedness, education facilities for occupants, and the esthetic beauty of the land and its surroundings.

The realty board held a preliminary discussion of local tax increase this year, and agreed to devote next week's meeting to a more thorough study of the situation.

Cory was introduced by President Earl Hawks.

M. Cory.

Crane; Nov. 22, "A Scales Talk—Overweight and Underweight," by Frances L. Liles, home demonstration agent for Orange county; Nov. 29, "Important Tree Diseases and Their Control," by Farm Advisor Harold E. Wahlberg.

TOWNSEND NEWS, VIEWS

By WALTER R. ROBB

Hot biscuits and stewed chicken, mashed potatoes, creamed dressing, cranberry sauce, baked apple, celery, radishes, pickles and jelly, coffee with cream were included in the menu served to more than 100 diners in the Anaheim Townsend club building Thursday night. The hall was decorated in Halloween colors and it was a jolly crowd who assembled at the tables. No wonder when the Anaheim club puts on a dinner it is always well patronized. The writer and Mrs. Robb and Pope R. Long of Santa Ana; W. C. Churchill and wife, Brea; Walter Schulz and Ota A. Everett, Fullerton; Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Miller, Garden Grove and Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Freeman of Anaheim were the members of a committee who were present to consult concerning a Townsend float which will be placed in the parade on next Thursday night. So the writer knows all about the capability of the Anaheim Townsend club cooks, as he didn't fail to take full advantage of the opportunity.

It's time to begin to get yourself all dolled up for the big show in Santa Ana Townsend hall at 7:30 tonight. For the first time "The Pepperdine Family of Grasshopper Run" a home talent play written by a local Townsend lady, will be presented to the consideration of the public. As said in this column last evening "for a dime admission you'll get a dollar's worth of fun." So get your go to meeting clothes on and toddle down to 509 West Fourth street prepared to laugh until your sides are sore. Santa Ana Club No. 6 is sponsoring the play and your presence will be appreciated. Better be on hand early if you want the best seats.

Fullerton folks are in for a treat Monday when Julia A. Sharp, Long Beach Townsend speaker, speaks before Fullerton Club No. 1 in the Elbel club building at 7:30 p. m. at Harvard and East Chapman streets. This lady recently appeared before a Santa Ana audience and proved herself both capable and well informed. Those who hear her Monday evening won't be sorry. But listen to this: At 6:30 before the Townsend meeting there will be a potluck dinner in the clubhouse. Everybody is invited to bring a covered dish and table service and join in the festivities and then stay to hear the speaker.

Monday night is the La Habra club's meeting time, too. This club meets at 7:30 in the Masonic hall on Central avenue with E. E. Proud as the presiding officer.

Rev. Josiah Tucker, Placentia, will speak in the Orange Townsend club building at 149 South Glassel street, tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. Tucker has many admirers in these parts who will be on hand to hear him. The public is invited. Orange Club No. 1 will meet in the same hall at 7:30 next Monday evening with J. A. Green in the chair.

Santa Ana Club No. 2 will meet Monday evening in Townsend hall at 509 West Fourth street with P. R. Long, president as the presiding officer.

HEAD MAY BOSS M'ADOO RACE SURVEYOR ROW CLEARED UP

Attorney Horace Head will head Senator William Gibbs McAdoo's campaign for re-election in 1938, if he wants to do so.

Senator McAdoo said so yesterday afternoon, when interviewed by the Journal as he paused here to meet Democratic leaders of the county while on his way to San Diego.

McAdoo said that Head, prominent old-line Democrat, would be the first man he would think of when he starts his campaign for re-election to the United States senate.

The senator said that he expects congress to adjourn around the first of next May, and that he will launch his drive for re-election at that time.

Polish 'Bootleg' Charges Hurdled

Charges of "bootlegging" auto polish products were made today against Helen, L. C. and E. M. Lemckes and Artemie Cross in a superior court suit by A. M. Miner, partner in a distributing company.

Miner sued today to enjoin the Lemckes from selling or applying auto polish and to cancel a contract he gave them for selling and applying Kurl Kote products in Los Angeles.

The Lemckes, he charged, have learned secrets of manufacturing the Kurl Kote products, and have been using "bootleg" preparations in Kurl Kote containers.

Son Born to Farel Jones Family

Word was received here today by Mrs. S. A. Jones, 2327 Benton way, of the birth of a grandchild, a son to Mr. and Mrs. Farel R. Jones in a Los Angeles hospital. The boy has been named Bruce Richmond Jones and weighed seven pounds at birth.

Mr. Jones was educated in Santa Ana schools and is now in business here. He and Mrs. Jones, with the baby, will make their home in Santa Ana.

Home at Sunset Beach Burglarized

Burglary of a beach home at Sunset Beach, belonging to H. I. Nicholson of Los Angeles, was reported to the sheriff's office yesterday.

Entry to the house was gained by prying a window, and $45 worth of household articles were taken. The burglary was reported to have occurred sometime within the last week.

MERIT PLAN LAUDED BY EX-MAYOR

Former Mayor E. G. Warner today joined advocates of civil service for Santa Ana police and fire departments, with an emphatic endorsement of the civil service and merit system, which is proposed here at a special election Nov. 16.

Speaking to a meeting at civil service headquarters, the former mayor, who also served three years as police commissioner here, declared that "from my experience as police commissioner and also from personal connection with federal civil service, I know that both the fire and police departments would be more efficient if they had civil service."

"From serving many years under postal civil service I know that civil service is the true key to efficient and competent work in public service," said Warner. "I can heartily endorse Postmaster Frank Harwood's statement regarding the civil service and merit system. From my own experience, I know he is absolutely right."

"I was in the postal civil service nearly 20 years. I wore the uniform for more than 10 years, then was promoted to the position of chief superintendent for the entire rural delivery service of the midwestern states, from Pittsburgh and Buffalo to Denver. It was my job to inaugurate delivery service in the new fields, and to investigate applications of postmasters for increases in personnel. Thus, I could observe the working of civil service from both sides, that of the employee and that of the administrative official. And I know what the general public probably suspects, namely, that if it were not for civil service, the United States postal service would be the greatest political machine in the country."

"As it is, the postal service is a model of efficiency, and politics can get no grip upon it. Civil service alone is responsible for that fact."

10 MAROONED IN ELEVATOR

SAN FRANCISCO. (P)—Ten salesmen have two fire companies and a policeman to thank for keeping them out of the well known marital doghouse. They were decidedly late getting home for dinner last night because:

They were riding in an elevator when it became jammed near the first floor level. Shouts and pounding brought a policeman. The policeman brought two fire companies. The experienced ax of a fireman did the rest.

Ochs Admits Malt Shop Burglary

Walter C. Ochs, former employee of the Majestic Ice cream shop at Fifth and Main streets, awaited a probation hearing today after pleading guilty to charges of grand theft and burglarizing the malt shop.

Ochs pleaded guilty in superior court yesterday afternoon to the charges and applied for probation through his attorney, R. M. Crookshank. Superior Judge James L. Allen set hearing on the application for Nov. 12.

Ochs, police charged, stole funds while he was an employee of the shop, then re-entered it last January after he had been discharged, taking two mixing machines. He is charged with burglary and with grand theft of $330.03.

Revive Hope for Pin-Swallower

SAN FRANCISCO. (P)—Philip Finer's pin, lodged in the stomach of the 2-year-old Pacific Grove boy, remained a problem for medical science here today.

Physicians said they hoped the open safety pin, originally lodged in the esophagus but pushed into the stomach in a preliminary operation, would pass from the digestive tract naturally. This would make another operation unnecessary.

OF ALL THE NERVE!

NEW YORK. — Patrolman Bert Willert went off duty at midnight and put his uniform in his car. Emerging from his precinct station a few minutes later, he saw John Bossi, 25, sauntering along wearing the coat, snugly buttoned. "Where'd you get that coat?" Willert asked.

"I just bought it in the Bowery for 35 cents," the man replied.

"Well, it cost me $35," the officer said, and pointing to his trousers rolled up under Bossi's arm: "What about those?" "Oh, they threw them in for nothing," Willert threw Bossi in the jug on a larceny charge.

ANAHEIM HIT BY NEW OIL FEVER

At least three companies vying for leases . . . substantial bonuses for unleased land . . . oil bearing sand . . . the Harbeson No. 1 shaft at 7347 feet . . . oil scouts . . . These things spelled oil fever to Anaheim today.

BONUSES OFFERED

Texaco, Hüllman-Long and Hall-Baker, Inc., are buying leases in the west and southwest areas beyond Anaheim, in expectation of a new field—its boundaries still a matter of conjecture—reliable informants reported today.

The Texas company is reported to be offering substantial bonuses for unleased territory west of the city, principally along Lincoln boulevard.

From the Harbeson No. 1 wildcat came reports the hole is down to the 7347-foot level, and that oil sands had been encountered at higher levels. These oil sands, however, were said to be in thin layers, not productive. Their total aggregate depth is said to be about 50 feet.

LEASES HELD

Protective leases in the vicinity of the Harbeson well total about 3400 acres, it was pointed out, with about 2000 acres being held elsewhere by other companies.

Pointing to the present depth of the Harbeson well as indication that Shell will continue its exploration in the belief it is on the verge of discovery, experts pointed out the Mathis well, on Highway 101, was abandoned at 5944 feet. The Harbeson shaft is about two miles northwest of the old Mathis hole.

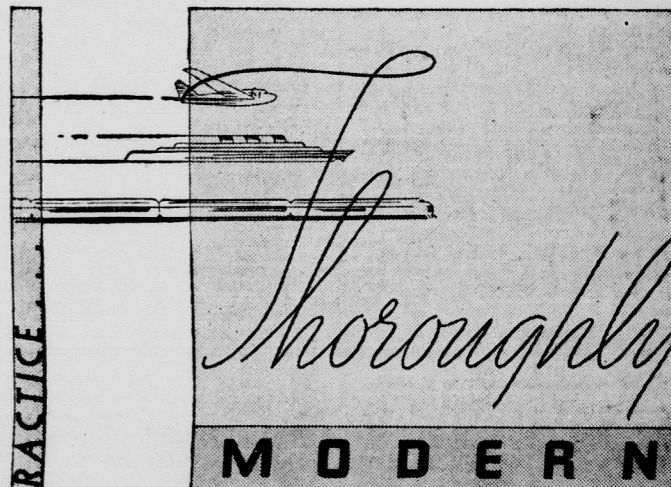

Yesterday afternoon the senator chuckled about the incident, but didn't say what he told that engineer, or why he started to pull out and leave the national official behind in this town.

SET REWARD FOR ARREST OF HOODLUMS

COSTA MESA.—Identification of a gang of hoodlums who attacked Donald Stearns, 28, Costa Mesa's first-born, was worth $10 today.

A reward was offered by the Costa Mesa Globe-Herald for "information leading to the arrest and conviction of the gang of youths who broke Stearns' jaw and knocked out several teeth Saturday night. The attack, Stearns said, came after he refused to give the hoodlums a wagon he was pulling behind his automobile.

When he refused, one of the group either kicked him or hit him with a stone, Stearns said. High school students from Santa Ana, Anaheim, Orange and Long Beach were blamed by the newspaper for Halloween lawlessness in Costa Mesa.

Stearns, president of the Costa Mesa Grange, was the first baby born in Costa Mesa.

"In offering this reward," the paper said, "The Globe-Herald simply reflects the sentiment of an outraged local public."

Guy Garrison's millionaire Uncle Sherman has been so insistent upon his getting married that Guy, who is wintering in Miami, sends the old man a photo of Joan Wilton, nightclub singer, saying he is engaged to her. Then, he actually becomes engaged to Mabel Lane but when Uncle Sherman comes to Miami to take him and Joan on a yacht cruise, Guy is afraid to spring a new fiancée on him. He pays Joan to go on the cruise as his "fiancee" and to antagonize Uncle Sherman while Mabel is playing up to him, so that he will order Guy to jilt Joan in favor of Mabel. The first night out, Mabel is alone with the old man, trying to get into his good graces, when Joan, flourishing a cocktail and pretending she is intoxicated, bursts in on them.

CHAPTER XVIII
Joan gave Mabel quick, significant look, then went on for the old man's benefit.

"It's dreadfully boring on this dinky little tub! I needed a few cocktails to cheer me up."

"Joan!" Mabel exclaimed, in feigned severity.

Garrison seemed stricken dumb by Joan's crude intrusion, toppled by her insult to his hospitality and yacht.

Mabel caught her and spun her around.

"Aren't you forgetting whom you're addressing?"

"I thought it was Sherman Garrison," Joan turned and eyed the old man owlishly. "Sure, it's old Sherman! The uncle of the guy I'm going to marry! Did you get it? Ha-ha-ha."

"Don't pay any attention to her, Mr. Garrison," Mabel pleaded prettily. "She's—er—you know—she isn't really responsible."

"Intoxicated!"

Sherman Garrison was staring at Joan in disgust. He half rose and pointed to the door.

"You'd better go," Mabel plucked at Joan's arm nervously. "Before he—he starts throwing things."

"No, no! You go. Immediately!"

Garrison was pointing at Mabel. "Leave me alone with this—er—this hussy! I've a few things to say to her in private."

"Of course," Mabel hurried to the door. Pausing there, she cooed. "Don't be too hard on her, Mr. Garrison."

"I'll attend to this!" Garrison thundered.

Mabel went out triumphantly, closing the cabin door behind her with a soft thud.

A STRAINED silence followed her departure. Joan lifted the cocktail glass up to the light reflectively, took a defiant sip, and looked at Garrison.

He held out a thin hand and spoke sternly.

"Give me that internal drink, young lady."

Tossing her head, Joan said impudently. "You're not supposed to have cocktails, old dear. Your nurse told me they were absolutely forbidden to you."

"Give me—that glass," Garrison's voice was harsh and rasp-

English Statue Raises Furore

A violent storm of controversy broke in London when this massive statue, purporting to represent Christ after the Crucifixion, recumbent in the tomb, was shown in Leicester gallery by the widely known sculptor Jacob Epstein, standing at rear of the figure. Epstein calls it "Consummation Est"—It is finished. It is heven from a huge block of Derbyshire alabaster, the sculptor asserting it was inspired by a passage from Bach's mass.

Books Topic at Yorba Linda Parent-Teacher Meeting

YORBA LINDA.—"The Library, the Open Door to Education and Culture," was the topic of Vern Smalley, local librarian, who spoke before the November meeting of the Yorba-Linda Parent-Teacher association Tuesday afternoon in the grammar school.

Mrs. J. Hunter Smith led in prayer and the salute to the flag was led by Mrs. Mabel M. Paine, principal of the school. Mrs. Ross

Johnson presided. It was voted that the P.T.A. sponsor the Girl Scouts this year. Venita LeBrecht received a prize for the lower grades in securing the most members, and Edith Mae Barton for the upper grades.

Preceding the meeting a program was arranged by the sixth grade in observance of National Book week. Taking part were: Gieve Kelsey, Margaret Apalategui, Edna Dollardide, Marie Huff, Betty Friend, Norma Swoap, June Smith, Keith Earl, Sdwod Moore, Lester Rodieck, George Gilman, Gertrude de los Reyes, Mary Lou Thurston, Charles Murphy, Anne Kratz, Richard Sparks, Dolores Peralta, Joyce Munger and Darlene Eastlow. Ruth Cox played piano solos and Jack Woodward acted as announcer.

Committees were as follows: Room arrangements, Frank Carillo, Junior Ohler, Joe Rivera and Julian Reyes; Flowers, Mary Lou Thurston, Altha Fryatt and Mary Friend; program, Rex Hastings, Louis Navarro, Melvin Marshburn, Earl French and Elwood Moore.

JOAN shrugged, and handed the glass over. "There's lots more where it came from. Your bar is the best thing on this boat. If you dump it, I'll get another."

Garrison lifted the glass and sniffed. His nostrils twitched, and his hand trembled. The tip of his tongue crept out to moisten his parched lips.

"Did you see Miss Miller outside?" he asked.

"Yes, yes! My nurse—my ward—" the old man said bitterly. "No, I haven't seen her lately."

GARRISON stared at the cocktail glass, then held it away from him.

"Do you know what alcohol does to one's system, young lady?"

"I know what it does to mine," Joan told him flippantly. "It gives me nerve enough to beat the lion in his den—Uncle Sherman in his cabin." She perched on the arm of his chair.

"I gathered that you've never had an opportunity to look at the dod-durned pictures some doctor has made showing the horrible effects of alcohol on the human system."

"I've been spared that," Joan said gaily.

"I presume you've never been told that one more cocktail was likely to be your last?" The hand holding the glass trembled still more.

"Not yet."

"And you never smoked cigars?" The old man glared at Joan fiercely.

"N-o-o."

"Then you don't know what it means to be deprived of them?"

"I suppose not."

"In short, young lady, you have not the slightest conception what it means to be what is no more nor less than a walking mummy."

"I'm sorry," Joan faltered, forgetting her role for a moment. "I didn't mean to put temptation before you by bringing that cocktail in. I'll take it and—"

"She reached for the glass.

"Oh, no, you don't!" Garrison's grip on the glass tightened. "You have had far too much already. I'll not allow you to have another drop!"

JOAN quickly resumed her role. "Pooh!" she said airily, and jumped up from the arm of the chair, reaching for the glass.

"Don't spill it!" Garrison exclaimed, in quick alarm, holding it away from her.

Joan, puzzled, put her hands on her hips and frowned.

"Turn the key in the lock," Garrison said softly.

"What are you going to do?" Joan asked nervously.

"Turn the key in the lock!" Joan moved slowly to the door and turned the key. What—was he going to do?

Garrison was staring into the cocktail glass as though it hypnotized him. Then, slowly and deliberately, he lifted it to his lips and drained it to the last drop.

"Young lady," he said solemnly. "You have saved my life! That's the first cocktail I've been able to slip past Miss Miller's eagle eye this trip!"

COSTA MESA RESERVOIR COMPLETED

COSTA MESA.—Work will be completed this week on the new $11,000 concrete reservoir being constructed at Sixteenth street and Santa Ana avenue by the Newport Heights Irrigation district. The new reservoir, which is 160 feet in diameter with 11-foot sides, will be principally used as an equalizing storage tank, H. B. Woodrough, secretary of the company, said.

Connected with the present steel tank, it will now be possible to pump throughout the night, storing up water for use during the daylight hours. Equipped with an automatic booster pump, the new reservoir also will assure a steady pressure for domestic use, Woodrough stated.

With the newly installed aeration system at the pumping plant it is now possible to eliminate approximately 90 per cent of the natural gas in the water and the directors of the company feel that addition of the new reservoir will make the Newport Heights system as near mechanically perfect as is possible in a system of this size.

Hamaker Scores On Line Plunge

Santa Ana's surprising Saints were back in the thick of the fight for the Citrus Belt league football championship today. Reaching their seasonal peak with inspired line play, the Bill Foote-Joe Koegler preps upset Pomona's previously unbeaten Red Devils, 6 to 0, at Pomona yesterday. The victory elevated the Saints to a first-place tie with Pomona, and may give them a clear claim to the title if they eliminate San Bernardino's comparatively weak outfit in their final game at San Bernardino Nov. 19. There still remains the possibility of a two or three-way tie.

with Pomona and Chaffey, but Santa Ana has taken the measure of both of these rivals, and probably will win the right to represent the league in the Southern California playoffs.

Pomona was advertised as a two-touchdown favorite on the strength of its seasonal record of 145 points against 44 for the opposition, but the Red Devils received two costly "breaks" that took the heart out of their attack. The first came when the gun ended the half with Pomona on Santa Ana's goal line after a sensational pass from mid-field. The other came in the third quarter on a clipping penalty that nullified a 60-yard run by a diminutive streak of lightning, Quarterback Monie.

PENALTY IS COSTLY

Monie, in that third-quarter rally, took the ball from center on his own 20-yard line and weaved around left end, outdistancing all of the Saints except little Wayne Piper, who overtook the Pomona whirlwind on the Saints' 22. The gain, longest of the afternoon, was nullified by a clipping penalty, however, and Pomona was forced to punt to Barney Robinson, who returned to Pomona's 36-yard line.

From the 36, the Saints marched to a touchdown in 11 plays. A pass from Piper to Milton Smith was good for a shade better than 9 yards. Robinson lost 3, but picked up 1 on the next play. Piper fired another pass to the towering Smith for a first down on Pomona's 20. Eugene Hamaker gained 6 and 1 before taking a reverse from Robinson that was good for 10 to the 3-yard line. Piper gained 11, over right tackle, and Hamaker carried it up to the 1-ft. line. Hamaker then plunged over left guard for the touchdown. Melvin Baron's conversion kick barely left the ground, but the Saints were satisfied with their six points.

Fullback Bill Musick recovered a fumble at mid-field to break up one Pomona advance in the first quarter. In the second period, he intercepted Duran's pass on Santa Ana's 37, shortly after Duran had gained possession by intercepting one of Robinson's aerials. From his own 37, Musick ploughed through for 8 yards to the 45, and on his next effort went 8 yards for a first down to Pomona's 47. Passes failing, the Saints punted out on Pomona's 9½-yard mark. From this point, Monie broke away for 13 yards, and Duran for 15 yards in two successive first downs to the 37½. An outside penalty on the Saints, plus a 14-yard run by the clever Monie, planted the ball on Santa Ana's 43, from where Harry Karns, fullback, uncoiled a long pass over right end that was completed on Santa Ana's 2-yard line. The Saints held for two plays before the gun ended the first half.

BACK ON 1-YARD LINE

Santa Ana's third-quarter touchdown aroused Pomona, but the Red Devils didn't get the hot water until early in the fourth period when Duran punted to George Higashi on Santa Ana's 14. A clipping penalty set the Saints back to within a yard of their goal. Musick kicked out, and as luck would have it, Tackle Larry Stump recovered Monie's fumble on the 34 to regain possession for the Saints. Musick ripped off two first downs, and was inches short of another one on Pomona's 36. The Red Devils attempted a pass which Bob Webb and Hamaker intercepted on Santa Ana's 37. . . . The fourth quarter was enlivened by a first fight between Smith of the Saints and Nickerson of Pomona. Both were ordered off the field.

The Saints play at Fullerton in an Armistice day feature next Thursday afternoon. It will be a non-league game, but interesting from a traditional angle.

Battling through their second straight week of scoreless football, the Laguna Beach Artists were on the verge of mathematical elimination today as a result of their 0 to 0 deadlock with Brea-Olinda's Wildcats, who have won two games and tied one in leading the Orange County league standings.

Meanwhile, Tustin climbed into second place with a 21-7 trouncing of Garden Grove while San Juan Capistrano was drawing a bye.

Several times Brea and Laguna Beach were in sight of pay dirt, but were unable to score. Brea reached the 8-yard line several times, with the Art team getting down to the 15.

Merle Shores, captain and halfback for Coach S. S. (Shorty) Smith's footballers, and Rollo Beck of Maurice (Red) Guyer's team led their respective elevens with their offensive and defensive play.

Tustin tallied in the second quarter when Monroy threw two passes to Vic Linker and Winkler and then punted over from the 2-yard line. He converted the same way. Monroy passed to Linker in the flat for 25 yards and a touchdown in the third quarter. Monroy plunged through center for 15 yards and the final play after Merle Shores had put the Garden Grove back into the game with a pass to Berry for his lone touchdown.

VIC BOTTARI IN UNIFORM

BERKELEY, CALIF. (P)—California's Golden Bears, unbeaten and united in four Pacific Coast conference football games, line up as strong favorites over the University of Washington Huskies here today.

More than 60,000 fans were expected in Memorial Stadium to see if the powerful Bears, now rated America's No. 1 team, could continue their crushing campaign for the conference title and a Rose Bowl invitation.

The Huskies, 1936 champions, have lost two games this season, but were in top shape for California.

Heated Rivalry of Prep Elevens Postpones Game

LOS ANGELES. (P)—The "Panthers" and the "Rail-splitters," the football teams, respectively, of Franklin and Lincoln high schools, will not meet on the gridiron until the rivalry between the schools cools to a point of safety.

They were scheduled to clash yesterday, but at the last minute school officials called it off and postponed the game for at least one week.

Folks living near the Franklin field, scene of the engagement, told police they were afraid the tense rivalry between the two student bodies might result in property damage and possibly personal injuries.

COLORADO NEAR GRID CROWN

SALT LAKE CITY. (P)—Colorado University, boasting one of the nation's undefeated football teams, headed for its first career conference title since 1924 today, generally rated a two-touchdown favorite over the University of Utah.

The erratic Utes eyed with most doubt one Byron (Whizzer) White, brilliant Colorado quarterback who is considered the Rocky mountain conference's outstanding 1937 candidate for an all-America position.

NEW YORK. (P)—Mrs. Loula Long Combs of Kansas City, Mo., has been sending horses to the National Horse show and on for nearly 30 years but seldom has she enjoyed better success than at the current Equine blue-blood exhibition in Madison Square Garden.

With five days still to go, the matronly mid-western sportswoman leads the field with seven blue ribbons and appears well on the way to carrying off the honors.

NINE CAPABLE JUVENILES RUN IN $15,000 ADDED PIMLICO

BALTIMORE. (P)—An overnight field of nine capable juveniles promised track fans a riveting duel today in the 16th running of the Pimlico futurity, rich-race of Maryland's fall season.

The $15,000 added, mile and a sixteenth test for 2-year-olds was expected to gross about $35,000, with the winner's purse worth approximately $30,000.

Missing from the field was Hal Price Headley's 2-year-old champion, Menow, retired for the season because of a cut leg. With Menow out, overnight favoritism was about equally divided between entries of Headley and Willis Sharpe Kilmer.

Headley nominated Burbon King, third in the Walden handicap, and his stablemate, Dah He, to carry one for the injured Menow at probable odds of two to one.

Kilmer pinned his hopes on Nedayr, winner of the Walden, and Sun Alexandria, which took the Spalding Lowe Jenkins handicap. Overnight odds on this entry were about eight to five.

Bourbon King, Dah He and Nedayr were assigned 122 pounds, but Sun Alexandria got in with 119.

The Chief and Dauber, both with 122 pounds, carried the silks of C. V. Whitney.

Only fully entered was Mrs. Edward Friendly's Jacala, winner of the Selma stakes at Laurel. She was assigned 119 pounds.

Rated last on the list were T. B. Martin's Galapas, shipped from New York for the race, and A. G. Vanderbilt's Red Pepper. Galapas drew 119 pounds, Red Pepper, 122.

San Berdoo Also Clings to Lead

The Eastern J. C. conference football race was strictly a two-team battle today between the two leading exponents of wide-open football, Santa Ana and San Bernardino Junior colleges.

Both Dons and Indians, displaying plenty of power in their offensive drives and a strong defensive attack, eliminated their two foremost rivals, Riverside and Pomona, last night, setting the stage for another meeting between the two outstanding elevens which fought to a bitter 7 to 7 deadlock three weeks ago.

DONS LOSE RILEY

Chet Riley, one of Santa Ana Jaycee's best ends, suffered a dislocated left elbow on the next to the last play of last night's game, and probably will be lost for the rest of the season, it was reported today.

Dons' chances of travelling to Phoenix for a joust with Gerald (Tex) Oliver's Wildcats, freshmen were enhanced by their sterling triumph last night. The game would be played Nov. 19.

TWO IN FIRST QUARTER

Tallying twice in the opening quarter and once in the second, Santa Ana's football juggernaut scored three times in the last half but only were able to garner a safety as a result of a blocked kick in the third quarter.

Riverside escaped a whitewashing by pushing across a touchdown in the last 15 seconds of play.

Santa Ana's first touchdown after nine minutes of the first quarter, after a blocked kick by Virgil Stevens. It was a 35-yard march, capped off by Quarterback Oliver McCarter's 20-yard ripping run off his own right tackle through the entire Riverside secondary.

Ed Stanley, on a sneak, made 1. Beall hit left tackle for 4 and after one incomplete pass to John Joseph, he threw over All-conference Lloyd Leest's head to Mercurio, who was standing all by himself in the end zone. Beall again foxed the Tiger backs by faking a conversion kick and then passing out to the left to Erwin Youel.

Santa Ana's hopes received a rude shock at the opening of the second quarter when Fullback Frank Boyd of Riverside and outstripped the field only to be chased out of bounds on the 1-yard line. In a gallant goal-line stand, the second-string forwards of Ends Carroll Joy and Bill Semmacher, Tackles Pancho Forster and Merle Griset, guards, Bill Twist and Pete Kotlar and Center Jerry Nesmith held and took the ball on the 20.

Midway in the quarter the Dons, engineered by Mercurio and Beall, drove 75 yards down the field for their final score. After making it a first and 10 on the 38, the Dons had a circus catch by Joseph nullified when both sides were off-side. He caught it after taking a somewhat while on his back.

BEALL TO JOSEPH

Retaliating, the Dons sent Mercurio through right guard on a sneak from the Santa Ana 46, with the fleet quarter streaking toward the left and finally being run down on the Riverside 19. It was the prettiest play of the game.

Beall passed to Joseph from the 17 for the touchdown, but the pass conversion failed from Beall to Stanley.

'ALI BABA' AT BROADWAY

Eddie Cantor really goes to town in his first picture for hit-making Twentieth Century-Fox, "All Baba Goes to Town," featuring Tony Martin, Roland Young, June Lang, Louise Hovick and thousands of others, which opens at the Broadway theater today.

An unusual and magnificent combination of surprise and side-splitting comedy, new Gordon and Revel song hits, beautiful girls, exotic dances and thrilling spectacle, "All Baba Goes to Town" marks the beginning of a new and important phase in Cantor's brilliant career.

The spectacular musical hit has been enriched by a revolutionary new three-toned process in which a combination of blue and orange is utilized for the night sequences, while sepia, amber and copper provide the three-tone effect for daytime episodes. Advance notices say theatergoers who have seen this film hang on to their chairs when Eddie Cantor turns Bagdad into a turmoil, hear Tony Martin sing to June Lang under the desert moon, see hundreds of Oriental darlings, hear the Raymond Scott quintet when they turn the heat on swing, see the 1938 model magic carpet and hundreds of other highlights in the mirth-filled musical.

Second attraction is "It Happened in Hollywood," a most unique film in which Richard Dix and Fay Wray are starred, and in which appear many of the doubles and stand-ins used by famous stars. Miss Wray's role epitomizes the real-life struggle for stardom of many of Hollywood's film favorites. Dix is seen as a two-fisted cowboy star.

Short subjects include the latest release of March of Time, and a cartoon, "New Deal Show," as well as World News events.

'DAMAGED GOODS' HERE

Eugene Brieux, author of "Damaged Goods," has been hailed by the world's foremost dramatic critics as the greatest writer France has ever produced.

The screen version of "Damaged Goods" was adapted for the picture by Upton Sinclair, who also wrote the novelization of the play. It will be the featured attraction at the Princess starting next Friday.

Phil Goldstone, producer of "Damaged Goods," chose an all-artist cast to portray the roles in this picture, which is a powerful plea for the tearing away of the veil of mystery shrouding a subject important to all.

In the face of the most savage criticism from the ignorant, but acclaimed by the public, press and pulp, it was first presented at the Fulton theater, New York City, before members of the Sociological Fund. A special request performance was also given in Washington, D. C., for members of the cabinet and members of both houses of congress, representatives of the diplomatic corps and others prominent in national life. A tremendous endorsement followed.

'Roaring Timber' Coming to State

Columbia's "Roaring Timber," featuring Jack Holt with Grace Bradley, Ruth Donnelly and Raymond Hatton in support, will be the feature at the State theater starting Friday.

"Roaring Timber" tells the dramatic tale of one man's treachery for supremacy in the north woods. Also in the program is a Charlie Chase comedy, "Calling All Doctors"; a colored cartoon, "A Boy and His Dog"; a newsreel and a chapter of the serial, "Secret Agent X-9."

At Broadway Today

The famous comedian, Eddie Cantor, is shown in the center of the scene above, from his spectacular new comedy with music, "All Baba Goes to Town," which opens today at the Broadway theater with "It Happened in Hollywood," featuring Richard Dix and Fay Wray.

At West Coast Sunday

Joan Blondell and Errol Flynn are shown above in a scene from the new romantic comedy, "The Perfect Specimen," which opens at the West Coast theater tomorrow with a second attraction, "Boots and Saddles," starring the popular singing cowboy, Gene Autry.

Mary Stoddard 'Laura' Is Example of Women Who Love Men Because of Their Shortcomings

Sometimes as I read these heart problems from women I am inclined to believe that many of my sex are attracted to a man because of his shortcomings—that oftentimes if they could but analyze their hearts they would find themselves loving men for their very faults! Perhaps you won't agree with me. That's why I would like your opinions on a problem like the one contained in the following letter:

Dear Miss Stoddard: My problem is perhaps more unusual than those you are accustomed to answer. However, your answer, regardless of what may be, will be a great help to me.

I am 23 years old and have been going with a man for quite some time. I am very fond of him. My problem is not that I dislike his manners or his attitude. He is well-mannered and does have the greatest respect for me. But to make a long story short, he is probably the hardest man to entertain that I have ever met. He dislikes dancing. A movie to him is just a waste of time. To sit at home and talk is too tiresome. I could suggest several things to do, but as it will involve money, I do not feel that it is my duty to suggest.

I DO admire him very much, but I know that our friendship will not last long if our moments together are spent so wastefully. Could you and your readers kindly suggest some entertainments that would help us? Where to go that would not be too expensive, in evenings and afternoons. He is only three years my senior and because our ages do not differ I should think we should be able to find something that would interest us both. Thanking you most sincerely, LAURA.

Perhaps, Laura, after you have read your own problem in black and white, the whole atmosphere will clear. These are the things to consider above all else. You have gone with the young man for quite some time. He admires and respects you, and you are almost the same age.

Why not attempt to draw him out as to what he likes for entertainment? Does he like to play games? You can get any number of interesting games at a reasonable price. Is he interested in cards? If he doesn't know how to play, why not teach him? Does he enjoy reading? Two people can have a nice evening by taking turns reading a story or a good book.

The chances are that you are drawn to this young man because of his reticence. If you changed him too much, or he permitted you to influence him, your association would lose its charm.

New Shirley Film Opens Thursday

A Shirley Temple more glorious than anyone has ever known and a beloved story that has enthralled millions will reach the screen of the West Coast theater next Thursday with a second attraction, "Borrowing Trouble," which was announced today by Manager George King.

Shirley's newest picture is "Heidi," Johanna Spyri's enchanting tale which has thrilled readers of the story everywhere with its warmth, tenderness and beauty. An embittered Swiss mountain-top exile is reclaimed from his fierce hate of the world by the heroine, who brings him a new zest for life, and a young girl is given the strength and will to walk again. The cast includes Jean Hersholt, Arthur Treacher, Helen Westley, Pauline Moore and Thomas Beck.

"Borrowing Trouble" is another of the popular Jones Family series in which the family plays big brother to a tough youngster who needs friendly interest and encouragement to wean him away from his own weakling brother and his own bad companions. The efforts to salvage the boy, considered incorrigible, trace a fine line between homespun comedy and heart-touching pathos. The cast includes Ted Prouty, Shirley Dean, Spring Byington and Russell Gleason.

FLYNN IN W. C. FILM SUNDAY

Handsome Errol Flynn and lovely Joan Blondell are co-starring in the brilliant new romantic comedy, "The Perfect Specimen," which opens at the West Coast theater tomorrow with a second attraction, "Boots and Saddles," thrilling western picture.

Other popular players who will be seen in "The Perfect Specimen" include Hugh Herbert, Edward Everett Horton, Dick Foran, May Robson, Beverly Roberts and Allen Jenkins. Flynn and Miss Blondell sing a duet in this new picture, which is punctuated with laughs and witty dialogue.

The story concerns a fiery old mistress of Wickstead Manor who trains her handsome grandson to be a perfect specimen of manhood, mental and physical, when he becomes head of the vast Wickstead utilities. The complications that come when the grandmother decrees a marriage for her feisty grandson, make for hilarious comedy and dramatic, fast-moving action.

Gene Autry, the screen's most popular singing cowboy, is starred in "Boots and Saddles." His catchy songs and nonchalant manner make this his finest picture to date, according to advance notices. He is assisted by an able cast including "Smiley" Burnette, Ra Hould, Judith Allen and Guy Usher. A thrilling horse race which has as its stake a big business deal is one of the highlights of the action-packed film.

SHOW HEINE FILM SUNDAY

In one of the finest double-feature programs presented to Santa Ana theater-goers this year, Walker's theater will screen, for the first time together, "Thin Ice," co-starring the very lovely Sonja Henie and Tyrone Power, and "Big City," with Luise Rainer and Spencer Tracy. The program, which also includes a colored cartoon and a newsreel, will open Sunday for four days with continuous showings daily.

Topping all her triumphs of "One in a Million," Miss Henie is more radiantly exciting than ever, in "Thin Ice," as she displays new beauty, new daring and new breath-taking thrills. A delightful romance of mistaken identity affording many hilariously funny situations, Arthur Treacher, Raymond Walburn and Joan Davis head the important supporting cast.

The new picture, "Big City," presents a cross-section of American metropolitan life, with Tracy as a New York City taxicab driver who becomes involved in a war between rival taxicab companies, and Miss Rainer as his immigrant wife whom he barely saves from deportation.

The veteran character actor, Charley Grapewin, heads the supporting cast of "Big City" and other well-known names in prominent roles include Janet Beecher, Eddie Quillan, Victor Varconi, Oscar O'Shea, Helen Troy, William Demarest and Guinn Williams.

Sonja Henie At Walker's

Tyrone Power and Sonja Henie in a scene from "Thin Ice," which opens at Walker's theater Sunday for four days. "Big City," starring Luise Rainer and Spencer Tracy, will be the companion feature on this big double-feature program.

In 'A Message to Garcia'

Barbara Stanwyck, John Boles and Wallace Beery as they appear in great feature film "A Message to Garcia," opening Sunday at the State theater with another feature of equal importance, "Wake Up and Live," featuring Ben Bernie, Walter Winchell, Alice Faye and Patsy Kelly.

High, Wide and Handsome' Ends

"High, Wide and Handsome," a picture as colorful and fast-paced as the title indicates, will show for the last time tonight at the West Coast theater with Irene Dunne in the starring role.

It is a rip-roaring musical romance set against the background of the exciting oil boom days of Pennsylvania. Inspired by the stirring times of the 1860's when farmers struggled to cast off the exploiting railroad magnates who wanted the profits of the new industry, the picture combines drama with romance, music and comedy. The cast includes Randolph Scott, Akim Tamiroff, Raymond Walburn and Elizabeth Patterson.

The second feature on the closing bill is "There Goes the Groom," a rollicking comedy-romance with Ann Sothern, Burgess Meredith, Mary Boland and Onslow Stevens featured.

'3 Mesquiteers' To Close Tonight

Again the "Three Mesquiteers" are on the war path in a hard ridin', gripping struggle with a mysterious cult of the Great Painted Desert.

The film, starring Bob Livingston, Ray Corrigan and Max Terhune, will show for the last time tonight at the State theater with a complete show after 9:30. The newly discovered Mary Russell is cast as the leading lady.

On the same program are selected short subjects including "Our Gang Follies," an Our Gang comedy; a Popeye cartoon, "Hospitality"; a newsreel and a chapter of the serial, "Secret Agent X-9."

'Dead End' Due At Walker's Soon

"Dead End," a smashing hit on Broadway for two years and followed by similar success on the road, now on the silver screen, will open at Walker's theater next Thursday with "Easy Living," a gay, smart comedy as the companion feature.

In "Dead End," Sylvia Sydney gives her greatest performance a Drina, the little slum girl who fights a valiant but losing battle to save her small motherless brother, Tommy, from the gangster's fate. Joel McCrea and Wendy Barrie are in the cast.

Humphrey Bogart, Claire Trevor, and Allan Jenkins are featured in the supporting cast along with the famous "Dead End Kids" from the original New York cast.

The story of a poor working girl who gets a $50,000 sable coat as a gift and then has to live up to it, brings Jean Arthur, Edward Arnold and Ray Milland to the screen in "Easy Living."

New Dietrich Film Is Billed

"Angel," the first film on which Marlene Dietrich and Ernst Lubitsch have worked together as star and director, will show at the Broadway theater a week from tomorrow, it was announced today by Manager George King.

Critics say "Angel" is one of the most beautiful and charming photoplays produced in many months, and that the fine work of the star and director, as well as that of Herbert Marshall and Melvyn Douglas, combined to produce a film of great brilliance.

RADIO FEUD ON STATE BILL

Walter Winchell and Ben Bernie, famous scrappers of the radio, carry their feud to State theater screen tomorrow for three days in "Wake Up and Live," super-Twentieth Century Fox musical film. On the same bill is "A Message to Garcia," featuring Wallace Berry, John Boles and Barbara Stanwyck.

"Wake Up and Live" brings to the screen the famed Winchell-Bernie feud, with Alice Faye thrown in for extra good measure. The picture also includes the singing, dancing and emotion of Miss Faye, the laugh provoking antics of Patsy Kelly, Ned Sparks, John Davis, Jack Haley, Douglass Fowley, Walter Catlett, Grace Bradley and Leah Ray, and nine smash song hits by the topnotch team of Gordon and Revel.

The setting of "A Message to Garcia" takes place in the steam-jungles of a tropical land where three people fight nature and the treachery of men to carry a message to Garcia.

The dramatic tension increases when Barbara Stanwyck is wounded, and left behind as Boles and Beery venture ahead. Then, just when Beery believes he has brought Boles to Garcia, he discovers that he has inadvertently led him into an enemy trap.

It is in the stirring, crashing battle climax that Beery atones for many of the things that have gone before, frees his friend and brings the romance to a happy conclusion.

'Another Dawn' Coming Here

Three top-ranking stars from the Warner Brothers studios, Errol Flynn, Kay Francis and Ian Hunter, appear in the romantic adventure "Another Dawn," which opens Wednesday at the State theater, with Twentieth Century Fox's mirthful matrimonial hit, "The Lady Escapes," as the second feature on the bill.

The story is that of a British Garrison trapped in Iraq (Arabia), and only one chance for them to be saved.

Gloria Stuart and Michael Whalen are featured in a martial version of marital life in "The Lady Escapes," which finally culminates in an attempt to find another husband for Gloria before Michael gets re-novated.

Also on the program is a Screen Snapshot reel and a cartoon. The State theater will have continuous performances Thursday beginning at one.

'Triangle' Film Closes Tonight

Tonight will mark the last showing of the clever "triangle" picture, "Wife, Doctor and Nurse" and the hilarious comedy of the "tightwad" newspaper auditor, "Wild Money" at Walker's theater.

"Wife, Doctor and Nurse" co-stars Loretta Young, Warner Baxter and Virginia Bruce in a story that is being enacted every day in our metropolitan areas and brings some of the year's outstanding dramatic acting to the screen.

High humor, a fast moving story and a splendid cast of players combine to make "Wild Money," featuring Edward Everett Horton, one of the breeziest and most delightful comedies seen on the screen this season.

Autumn Hues Lend Charm To Party

The riotous wealth of autumn color and harvest fruits lent additional charm to two lovely luncheon parties hosted yesterday and Thursday by Mrs. J. S. Smart and Mrs. Harry Westover, when they entertained in the spacious home of the former at 1533 East Fourth street.

Glowing-toned chrysanthemums were sent in by Mrs. Clarence Nisson, Mrs. J. F. Burke, Mrs. George Dunton, Mrs. Fred Newcomb and Mrs. Whitford Willis to add to the attractiveness of the hostesses' decorations. One large table was centered with colorful autumn leaves and trailing vines, with persimmons cut as candle holders, holding blue tapers. Around the base the same luscious-hued fruits were banded, and they in turn were encircled by a procession of miniature turkeys. The same motif was carried out at the smaller luncheon tables each day.

Mrs. Smart and Mrs. Westover were assisted in receiving and serving their guests by Mrs. Smart's daughter, Mrs. Gay Cromwell of La Jolla.

Contract games yesterday resulted in lovely potted cyclamens being awarded as table prizes to Mrs. E. T. McFadden, Mrs. S. M. Davis, Mrs. Milo Tedstrom, Mrs. H. G. Wilson, Mrs. John Wehrly, Mrs. O. N. Robertson and Dr. Mary E. Wright.

On Thursday similar awards were made to Mrs. Roy Hall, Mrs. A. W. Rutan, Mrs. J. E. Paul, Mrs. J. F. Burke, Mrs. Adam Zaiser, Mrs. R. C. Hoiles and Mrs. Charles F. Kendall.

FALL FESTIVAL PLANNED FOR NOVEMBER 17

Following in the series of annual fall festivals which have proved so popular and so gracious in years past, members of St. Elizabeth's guild are laying interesting plans for their next fest to be held Wednesday, Nov. 17, in the Ebelt clubhouse, opening at one o'clock.

Officers and committees to assist Mrs. Marshall Keeler, general chairman, and Mrs. E. F. Mueses, vice-chairman, in completing arrangements for the affair were named this week.

Mrs. Charles Swanner will serve as chairman of the ticket committee, assisted by Mrs. Emil Wagner, Mrs. George Perkins, and Mrs. Bradford Hellis. Mrs. William Wollaston will be chairman for the dessert luncheon, while Mrs. Leonard Stevens will head the contract and auction committee. In the latter group will be Mrs. Howard Stone and Mrs. Mae Farrar.

Completing the list are Mrs. James Farrage, chairman of the aprons and towels committee to arrange the hazy table of those items. Assisting her will be Mrs. George Chapman, Mrs. S. P. Freeman and Mrs. Kenneth Dawson will work together on cooked food and candy, and Miss Minnie Besser is planning the fortunes and silhouettes booths.

HOMOPHONOUS CLUB HAS MEETING

In a setting of autumn-colored pomegranate leaves and rust shades of chrysanthemums lighted with glowing candles, members of the Homophonous club met for their first party of the season.

Mrs. W. F. Rupp was hostess for the party, serving delicious refreshments with the aid of Mrs. Harvey Groover and Mrs. George Nash. High score in bridge rewarded Mrs. Etta Powers with a lovely gift, while Miss Marian Walker and Mrs. Marie Webb took high in other games.

Those present included Mrs. Marie Webb, Mrs. Gladys E. Brown, Mrs. Susie Lamb, Mrs. Mable Lowell, Mrs. Jessie H. Cole, Mrs. Anna Hoffield, Mrs. Mabel Osborn, Mrs. Bessie Bruns, Mrs. Marjorie Cook, Mrs. Gertrude McMaster, Mrs. Clifford McIlvian, Mrs. Etta Powers, Mrs. Anna Price, Mrs. Cora Huber, Mrs. Josephine Druce, Mrs. Ruth Smith, Miss Pauline Parson, Miss Marian Walker, and Miss Ruth Bartlett.

MRS. MARSILE THIMBLE CLUB

Mrs. Elizabeth Marsile was a very charming hostess Thursday when she entertained members of the Thimble Club of Native Daughters of the Golden West in her home on East Seventeenth street.

Plans were made for a Spanish dinner to be given in the Knights of Pythias hall on Nov. 22, with a bazar being held at the same time. The ladies spent the afternoon in sewing on articles for the affair.

Guests of Mrs. Marsile were Mrs. Mae West, Mrs. Margaret Mize, Mrs. Myrtle Ellis, Mrs. Estel Dresser, Mrs. Elva Selvidge, Mrs. Grace Cook, Mrs. Christine McFarland of Fullerton, Mrs. Gertrude Etzold, Mrs. Rose Ford, Mrs. Ann Head, Mrs. Lillian Gant of Balboa, Mrs. Genevieve Hickey, Mrs. Florence Watson, Mrs. Alta Marsile, and Miss Gladys Edwards.

Hundred Delegates Enroll At Opening of Conclave

Election of Mrs. Frank Curran Jr. (Nan Mead) of Santa Ana to the first vice-presidency of the Southern District of Federated Junior Clubwomen was effected this morning at the opening business session of the third annual conclave of the district, launched last night at the Santa Ana Ebelt club. Nomination of Mrs. Curran was unopposed, despite the fact that Orange county has boasted the district president for two years, Mrs. J. Russell Wilson of Santa Ana.

Mrs. Max Harford, of Hemet, was elected president of the southern district.

Named as candidate for the presidency this year by the nominating committee, composed of Mrs. C. B. Reynolds, district advisor, Mrs. Robert C. Rundstrom of Anaheim, and Mrs. Fremont Morse of San Diego, was the latter, now president of San Diego county juniors.

Opposition to Mrs. Morse for the office was vested in the person of Mrs. Max Harford of Hemet, named from the floor. Ballots for the presidency only were cast, and results were to be formally announced at luncheon.

Also nominated for office were Mrs. Bernie Bryant of Blythe for the second vice-presidency, and Mrs. Richard Glover of Anaheim for the secretary-treasurer.

Present officers, in addition to Mrs. Wilson, who is presiding over the conclave, are Mrs. Ann Wheaton of Hemet, first vice president; Mrs. LeRoy Mathews of San Diego, second vice president, and Miss Florence Backs of Anaheim, secretary-treasurer.

MANY REGISTER

Seventy delegates were registered at the clubhouse last evening before the buffet supper given by all Orange county clubs to launch the meeting.

The delegation was greeted by Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Albert Harvey, president of the local Junior hostess club; Miss Eleanor Wilson, state president of Juniors, and the Santa Ana committee members working with Mrs. Burt Zaiser, general chairman of arrangements.

In attendance last night at the supper were a number of senior dignitaries, among them Mrs. E. D. White of Santa Ana, state chairman of Juniors; Mrs. C. B. Reynolds of Blythe, district chairman of Juniors; Mrs. Edith Cloyes, district chairman of literature; and Mrs. M. B. Wellington and Mrs. C. V. Davis, advisors of the Santa Ana Juniors.

Unusual honor was accorded the conclave today by the presence of Mrs. E. W. Shirk, national federation advisor of Juniors, who was slated to act as installing officer at today's inauguration luncheon, presided over by Mrs. Robert Guild of the Santa Ana club.

Mayor F. C. Rowland, father of Mrs. Wilson, was likewise an honored guest at the session, extending the greetings of the city.

The morning session, in addition to election of officers, was to include a welcome speech by Mrs. Harvey, with a response made by Mrs. LeRoy Mathews of San Diego; yearly reports of officers featuring that of Mrs. Wilson; and legislation on the group's social, philanthropic, and cultural activities.

DELEGATES LISTED

Registered for last night's social activities, which included a high-jinx sponsored by the San Diego Woman's club that featured clever skits and musical numbers, were Florence Backs, Marjorie McCarthy, Ethel C. Rundstrom, Emily Glover, Juanita Harmon and Mary Louise Rundstrom of Anaheim.

Mrs. B. J. Bryant, Mrs. B. R. Olson, and Mrs. C. B. Reynolds of Blythe; April Stemple and Ruth Ann McBride of La Habra; Aletha Stater and Mildred Hale of Yucaipa; Elvyn Long, Edith Jones, and Caroline Crosby of National City; Flora Farrier, Evelyn Harper, Fern Wessels, Mary Y. ### Chat Awhile With Betty

Two busy week-ends overlapping, and what do you have? A scatter-brained society editor in whom thoughts of football games, Halloween parties, women's club conventions and what-not flicker, whirl, and form an endless vortex.

MIDNIGHT OIL
There might be fewer mental lapses if we gals could take more naps.

It seems that my friend Joel Ogle is setting up a little competition along the masculine walk of life insofar as "chat awhile" goes—and is really going over on his Sunday night broadcasts from KVOE. He too has that same funny feeling as your chatterbox—wishing he could sit beside his radio and listen to himself to see what it sounds like! Incidentally, he and dapper Jimmy Utt are planning another of those airplane treks of theirs into Mexico...

Speaking of which, that alluring country is getting its quota of Santa Ana visitors. Have heard tell that the Herbert Stroscheins are contemplating wandering toward Mexico City, and the Hugh Plumbs, the Felton Brownings, and the J. C. Hortons have just returned, filled with glowing comments about flowers and peons and romance and historical glamour. Mrs. J. E. Paul says that anyone with any idea of going there should do it pronto—with the influx of tourists, that gas stations, highway signs and general modernity are mushrooming rapidly, and that the primitive beauty of Old Mexico will soon be a thing of the past.

It's a funny thing that in a crowd of 50,000 people at a Los Angeles football game one should see so comparatively many familiar faces. Last Saturday we walked in right next to John Scripps and Charlie McDaniel—sat behind the Roy Pinkertons—sat in front of the Eddie Wests—waited for a hotdog along with Adelaide Tausig—passed Santa Ana's hotshot baseball player, Bomo Koral, en route out of the Coliseum—and joy of joys! Walked down the ramp within touching distance of Edward G. Robinson! He was attempting to be terribly inconspicuous in a luxuriant, tangled camel's hair coat which reminded me of Claude Brakelill...

Halloween revelry brought forth many intriguing dress-ups. Fred Forgy, our brilliant and dignified young attorney, had me simply convulsed. He was dressed to be Little Lord Fauntleroy, with wide ruffled collar, black velvet suit with short pants, and with that rebellious lock of golden curly hair he looked too cute for words.

The funniest thing about it though was when 5-year-old Cabell Finch went up to him at the Braden Finches' party, and said, "C'mon—if we wants play we havta go to my room 'cause it's our bedtime!"

Fred didn't know whether to be complimented or mortified.

Milan Miller had augmented his already considerable girly by a grass skirt and a very prominent and outstanding bosom, and did a fetching hula dance around the bonfire. Our staid dean of the junior college, Calvin Flint, was in similar attire PLUS an auburn wig with long curls.

Florence Stevens looked too pretty to be true in a fetching Little Red Riding Hood costume of china silk, and her debonaire sister, Ruth Forgy, made an adorable little girl. Es Emison went in for the Bohemian life with her artist's smock and beret, and Don Button's attire was a literal bell-ringer.

The Mead-Geoghegan nuptials now being a scheduled fact, it is learned that their address after the ceremony of Nov. 16, won't be known by the immediate family until after the first of the year. Privacy and all that. They're going to be missed at Tux and Gown tonight.

It will be nice to have Joey and Wilbur Barr more accessible when the holidays roll into town, although it's too bad to think of them giving up that darling ranch house.

Dr. Margaret Baker is winning all sorts of praise and honor with a talk she's been giving on Colonial glassware. It's been a passion of hers for a long time, and now that her knowledge and collection have been discovered, she's greatly in demand.

Apologies to the William Thornton White Juniors (Bill to you) for once again getting them out of bed at an inopportune hour. Particularly when Gloria announced that she was shocking the carpenters (engaged in finishing their new Corona del Mar home) by sitting blithely at the phone in her nightgown, swinging her bare feet.

Tomorrow will see pretty little Lois Courtney become Mrs. Elmer (Cherry) Osterman. And Norma Wilson revealed this week that her martial knot to Howard Fitzgerald will be tied Nov. 24th—which means some pretty important interfering with preparations for the Thanksgiving turkey dinner at the Wilson home. Have heard tell that the latter young couple has already reserved one of the upstairs of the new apartments in the city.

Stepping into the Dr. Chad Harwood's apartment late this week was like suddenly finding one's self in the middle of a Ginger Rogers-Fred Astaire movie set—all venetian blinds and white furniture and rounded windows and spaciousness.

The place was a dream come true, even to the blush-pink bassinet waiting for occupancy by week-old Chad Jr. Chad pointed out one intriguing feature—a very, very, very long telephone cord. Wherever he or the Missus plan to be in the house, there the phone is carried, whether it be kitchen, bedroom, or. As he said, you could even relax in the bathtub and talk to your girl friends. Now there's a suggestion for time-conservation for you!

Clyde Hill and his alluring Elaine are feeling pretty happy these days about their brand-new little all-electric number on West Eighth street. I've heard tell they, the Dick Ewerts, the Ernie Goulds, and the Basil Shifflets are planning big do-ings before the coming-up of Christmas.

The Ralph Coles and the H. R. Brinkerhoffs are slated to extend the glad welcome to buffet suppers at the Country Club tomorrow evening. Those nice informal affairs continue in popularity—it's an awfully pleasant way to while away a Sunday evening.

Which reminds me that Mrs. A. G. Flagg is greatly on the road to improvement insofar as her health is concerned. Her beautiful little granddaughter, Linda Huber, won first prize at a school costume parade with her quaint Dutch outfit last week-end.

Had to laugh at, and with, Becky Bacon the other night. She was wearing a stunning gardenia, and I asked what was the occasion. She giggled and said "Not a thing—just an impulse of Walter's!"

I remarked that impulsive husbands were rare and ought to be appreciated.

"Sure," she said, "But darn it! Saturday's Tux and Gown, and next week's my birthday—and the impulse will probably be gone by then!"

Rumor of the week: that another pretty Lewis girl is about to announce her engagement. But whether it's to the brother of the brother-in-law or some other swain, no one knows. The week will reveal all.

Adoption of the week: One ferocious, good-hunting, but stone-dread Dalmatian by the Ed Farnsworths, from the Mickey Walkers. They're still wondering who got the best deal.

See you next Saturday, when I promise to be completely unconventionalized.

—BETTY GUILD.

BON VOYAGE PARTY FETES MRS. NEWCOMB

Included among the bon voyage parties which complimented Mrs. Ted Newcomb before she left for Urbana, Ill., to join her husband, was an intimate miscellaneous shower given by Miss Pauline Riley in her home, 207 1/2 West Tenth street, Tuesday evening.

Guests gathered in the Riley home which was decorated with chrysanthemums, to play bridge during the evening, and to shower Mrs. Newcomb with lovely gifts. Those present for the charming courtesy were Mrs. William F. ### State President Lauds Local Club In Message to Journal

In a special message to The Journal, Miss Eleanor Wilson, state president of Federated Junior Clubwomen, today outlined the aims of the movement, and in a convention announcement paid tribute to the work being done by the Santa Ana club. Miss Wilson's message follows:

By ELEANOR WILSON

State President, California Federation of Junior Women's Clubs

Trying to accomplish something worthwhile is the aim of the Junior Clubwomen, and the nine hundred members in Southern District are definitely living up to this aim as indicated by reports at the conclave in session here today. Cultural, philanthropic and social fields of endeavor offer unlimited opportunities to these young clubwomen who are meeting the challenge of a more powerful life by their active participation in the outlined activities which comprise the state program. Blind welfare, safety subjects, scholarship awards, penny art fund, needlework guild, finance and insurance and better film appreciation are major points of study for the 1938 project plans.

In accepting the better film appreciation program the juniors realize that motion pictures are the greatest character building influence in the country today, and that an educational program for betterment in this field is the most effective means by which the junior clubwomen may make a definite contribution toward raising the standards of American ideals.

The sessions of the third southern district conclave have afforded great pleasure to all delegates, and have been an expression of the goodwill fellowship which exists within our hostess group, Santa Ana Ebelt Junior club. We are all indebted to them not only for a fine meeting, but also for their splendid record of accomplishment, which has been outstanding in this district.

Their section plan and club paper has been a model copied by many other clubs within the district and their entire record of achievement is one to be envied.

When members of the Junior Ebelt Travel section gathered yesterday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Quentin Matzen, 917 Kilson drive, they were pleasantly entertained by a fascinating informal discussion of a bicycle trip through Jugoslavia, given by Mrs. Calvin Flint.

Mrs. Flint brought with her many pictures taken throughout the country, and since her particular field is music, she also displayed some unique instruments from the nation. Later in the afternoon, Mrs. Flint presided at the tea urn from a beautiful table decorated with yellow marigolds and glowing white candles.

Miss Mildred Spicer, leader of the section, presided at a brief business meeting. Mrs. Matzen was assisted in her hostessing duties by Mrs. Fenton Dean and Mrs. Perry Davis.

Those present for the informal afternoon were Miss Betty Smith, Miss Mildred Spicer, Mrs. Leland Finley, Mrs. Calvin Flint, Mrs. Herbert Stroschein, Mrs. Edgar Eifstrom, Mrs. H. Raymond Smith, Mrs. Chester Horton, Mrs. Hans Wahlberg, Mrs. Thoburn White, Mrs. Robert Heffner, Mrs. Fenton Dean, Mrs. Perry Davis and Mrs. Matzen.

Silver-Fross Rites Read Today

The quiet mid-morning hour of ten o'clock today brought with it the nuptials of a popular former local girl, Miss Mary Jean Silver, and George H. Fross of Los Angeles.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. V. Silver now of Clay Center, Kansas, chose to be married in the spacious Tustin home of her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Silver, with only immediate relatives and a few intimate friends made during her long residence here, to witness the rites.

A blazing fireplace fire cast its light on jardiniere of beautiful white chrysanthemums, which with lacy fern and candelabra, transformed the library archedway into an altar-like setting.

The bride and groom chose to be unattended as the Rev. O. Scott McFarland read the impressive services. Miss Silver wore a smart maple toned tailleur with fur-trim and matching accessories, and a gardenia corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. Silver entertained at a reception following the ceremony, with the assistance of their daughter, Mrs. Robert Maypole, whose houseguest the bride has been since her arrival from Kansas last month. Mrs. Q. L. Hardy presided over the beautifully arranged table, centered with a tiered wedding cake.

The new Mrs. Fross attended Tustin Union high school, the University of California at Los Angeles, the Kansas University. She is affiliated with Chi Omega, and is a member of Sigma Theta social sorority of Santa Ana. Mr. Fross is originally from Indianapolis, where he was a Delta Tau Delta. He is now connected with the Pacific National Corp. of Los Angeles where he and his bride will make their home.

ATTEND ONTARIO RECEPTION

Motoring to Ontario on Thursday evening, a group of Santa Ana members of the Native Daughters of the Golden West attended the reception of the Ontario group for Mrs. Hazel Hanson, a state officer of the order.

A fine program was enjoyed by the group in a colorfully decorated hall, and the chapters presented gifts to Mrs. Hanson. Santa Ana's gift was a potted plant. Those attending from Santa Ana were Mrs. Genevieve Hickey, Mrs. Margaret Evanson, Mrs. Don Crumley, Mrs. Muriel Bray, Mrs. Mary Schroeder, Mrs. Florence Watson, Mrs. Elizabeth Marsile, and Miss Gladys Edwards.

SANTA ANA CHURCHES WELCOME YOU SERMONETTE

(ON THIS WEEK'S CHURCH SCHOOL LESSON)

By Glenn L. Thorne

Next Thursday is Armistice day. Tomorrow many of the churches will be having messages and lessons along the lines of peace.

And perhaps never before has the specter of war around the world been as haunting as it is today. Twenty years ago when we were engaged in the war to end all wars, many of us were yet in educational institutions. We were seeing the effects of war all about us and thinking how "insane" man must be to have the urge—and to yield to that urge—to kill his fellow man.

The youth of that day were firmly convinced in their minds that they were seeing the last war of mankind. We disagreed when our economics professor told us that wars come about every 20 years—with each new generation. Yet we look about us on every hand today and we find mankind more ruthless than ever.

Some people cannot understand this situation. Did not the angels 2000 years ago announce the coming of the Prince of Peace? And did not Christ leave us with the words "Peace I leave with you, my peace I give unto you?"

The world today is calling for reality in their quest of peace. But the reality that is called for is largely based upon the level of the material and sensual. It is on this level that the world is living. It has largely lost the sense of the spiritual so that the spiritual seems intangible and unreal and theoretic. But nothing in the world is more real than Christianity and the peace it will bring if given a chance. A real person came to earth with a real purpose and accomplished a real task. He made possible to man a real change of life and character—an inward change.

Christianity, if applied, is the cure for war. It is the only cure. It alone will bring peace to the nations of the world as well as to the individual. But to the individual it must come first. Those who have experienced, find a new life. It is different. It is a life begun on higher levels. It is life that has its aims, desires and affections set on higher things.

Yes, Christianity means peace. The ways of sin are the ways of strife and turmoil, of fear and question and unrest,

Some people feel that the Christian life is all a life of negatives, of riddance. Not so—for it is equally a life of positives, of possessions.

In the third chapter of Colossians, Paul gives some of the "put offs" (verses 5-9). Then he starts in in the next verse and gives us a list of the "put ons."

Who would trade the peace of the "put ons" for the "put offs" and their woes?

of guilt and judgment and condemnation. The outward face may wear a smile, but the heart may be saddest when the lips are singing.

The song at the birth of Christ was "Peace on earth." He came to bring peace to a troubled world and a lost man. But man has not largely received Him and so the peace largely waits. But whenever Christianity has been really received, peace has come.

Paul in his letter to the Colossians (3:15) says "let the peace of God rule in your hearts." Observe carefully the word "let." This peace of God will rule if we will but let it. God has provided and the responsibility is now all ours. He who does not have peace can blame no one but himself.

The reward of right living—the living of this Christian life of peace always comes. We sow and we reap. If we as a nation and as individuals sow peace, we will reap peace. Twenty years ago the world at large sowed the seeds of hate, lust, and war, and those seeds have matured with the new generation and today the world is reaping its harvest. The law of seed time and harvest is as definite as the law of gravitation. What we sow, that shall we also reap. If we plant the seed of a weed we reap a harvest of weeds—and note the plural, for our crop is always an increase. But if we plant the seed of a lovely flower, that will produce lovely flowers which we may share with others.

Let us implant the teaching of Christ in our own hearts and lives, and cultivate the seed of peace which He left us. That seed will bear fruit and we will not be ashamed of our harvest.

We repeat the words of Paul, "Let the peace of God rule in your heart"—and again emphasize the word "let."

THE LOST TAVERN

When the Royal Purple of Rome was all-powerful some two thousand years ago, a favorite resort of the Roman emperors was Otto Azzurra -- the celebrated Blue Grotto of Capri in the Bay of Naples.

Accessible only through a narrow, three-foot high opening that completely submerges at high tides, the Grotto is strangely illuminated with every known shade of blue. The explanation of this phenomenon is simple: only light that enters the cavern--some 1300 feet in circumference and 90 feet high--is refracted through the aquamarine blue ocean water that floods the entrance and fills the grotto half way to the stalactite-studded roof. All other rays are excluded.

This natural wonder was lost to the world for more than a thousand years! With the fall of the Roman empire the secret of the Blue Grotto's location was lost.

Smythe-Brown arrived home one evening with the gloomy news that his business affairs were in a sad state. His wife was helpful. "Well," she said brightly, "there's only one thing to do. ## Smoke-Eating Season Near

The eleventh month of the year is here, and the tang of the morning air cautions all that the frost season is close at hand.

With frost in the orange belt come those great accompanying clouds of smudge, blotting out the sky and descending like a biblical plague on man, beast and earthly possessions.

Viewing the unpleasant visitation with dread, the Riverside Enterprise remarks editorially:

All of us recall when wave after wave of smudge swept portions of Riverside, San Bernardino, Los Angeles and Orange counties last winter while citrus growers were making a desperate effort to save not only their entire year's work, but their trees. A tremendous loss was inflicted on thousands of homes and mercantile establishments because of this smudge, and supervisors of a majority of the counties in the citrus belt passed anti-smudge ordinances which they may have to enforce during the coming few months.

No one condemns the citrus grower from doing his best to save his property. But the Southland as a whole, feels there should be some better way to heat the orchards; that the entire populace should not pay this smudge penalty. There is no mistaking the determination of residents of Southern California to secure relief from the smudge nuisance. They are sympathetic with the citrus fruit growers as has been demonstrated during the years when it was presumed smoke was an aid in combating frost. Since it has been developed that smoke has no value in dispelling Jack Frost, public sentiment is demanding that it be eliminated. There has been no way to measure the damage of smudge to homes, to mercantile establishments, to the winter tourist and to the public health. But no one would deny that in 1937 the damage caused by the smudge ran into millions of dollars. We believe some marked improvement has already been made in orchard heaters since last winter. Of course it is too much to expect that all orchardists will have taken advantage of these improvements. But if a cold wave strikes us and heaters will have to be resorted to the amount of smudge smoke engendered will be considerably less.

The improved condition of orchard heaters and the anti-smudge ordinances referred to above may offer some consolation to dwellers in Riverside, San Bernardino and Los Angeles counties—but those conditions unfortunately do not apply here.

Our supervisors are still debating over whether or not to regulate the old-fashioned, obnoxious heaters out of existence in this county as has been done elsewhere.

Perhaps they think the change would be too great an expense on the growers. But if the citrus men of our neighboring counties can stand it, there's no reason why those here can't, too. Especially when they took in an estimated $3,500,000 more this year than last despite the freeze and short crop.

As a matter of fact, the change is not excessively expensive. We are informed that an old pot can be transformed into a modern one at the small cost of 25 to 50 cents.

To make matters worse for homefolk, we have been told that some of the old heaters which have been tossed out by growers in the other counties are being dumped into this area, where'll they'll becloud the air and endanger the health even worse than last year if there is as much firing.

Unless the supervisors act favorably on a sensible and needed ordinance regulating smudge pots, it looks very much as though we will all have to become smoke-eaters again this winter, whether we like it or not.

Anthony Eden makes it plain England not only expects every "American" to do his duty, but expects Uncle Sam to step lively and say, Yes, sir.

Stage Money

Congress is being asked by the President to give up its addiction to the use of stage money—stage money being the kind of money congress merely appropriates out of thin air, with never a thought or a plan toward raising the necessary funds to make it good.

Congress much prefers to get its money out of thin air. When it has to levy new taxes to raise the money it spends, congressmen feel the pressure of public lament from their constituencies.

The special session of congress beginning this month will consider several proposals which will involve the outlay of funds. Certain committees are already considering these.

"Don't unbalance the plan to balance the budget" is the caution sent by the President to the agricultural committees considering help for the farmers in the matter of stabilized prices.

That means, in plain terms: "If you must appropriate any new funds, levy the taxes to raise them at the same time."

To this the nation adds a solemn amen.

An insurance report says tall women live the longest. It may be just a typographical error meaning tall women are the longest.

The Money Question

Have you a $2 bill in your pocket? The chances are that you have not, for the very simple reason that $2 bills are becoming scarcer and scarcer.

The treasury department explains that people don't like $2 bills. In explanation is forwarded a story about a man who bet his last $2 bill on a longshot pony in a race and won his bet. The bookmakers who lost thought the $2 bill was unlucky for them, and they spread the word around, and it's been spreading ever since. That's the best reason anyone can advance as to why $2 bills are unpopular.

Just to be different, from now on $2 bills are going to be popular with us (editorial us). We like $2 bills, and hereby resolve to get and keep all of them we possibly can. If we manage to keep any more of them than we've been able to keep of $1 bills, we'll let you know.

FAIR Enough

By
Westbrook
Pegler

Roswell Magill, undersecretary of the treasury and an expert on clever little schemes having the color of legality, recently bestowed a mother-in-law's kiss on the proposal to abolish the parasitic exemptions now enjoyed by some four million public officials and employees and the owners of billions in public bonds.

Mr. Magill went through the motions of embracing the idea, but with such a face that he might as well have kicked it in the pants. He said the federal return from the tax on the billions in salaries now exempt would be less than $15,000,000, as though that trifle of money was hardly worth the bother of collecting—an attitude which doesn't jibe with the experience of those who not only do pay the tax on much smaller incomes but often have to spend a day haggling with the treasury catch-polls over a matter of $4.80.

The apparatus for collecting this tax from the great overprivileged horde of exempt judges, mayors, governors, commissioners and all is already in existence, and the fifteen million which he mentioned in a strangely condescending tone would be gravy enough to take care of a large number of political scrapbook keepers and presidential generalities to individuals.

CONSTITUTION "TROUBLE"

Mr. Magill also emphasized the difficulty of obtaining a constitutional amendment, as the treasury would prefer, rather than a legislative enactment which might be slapped down by the supreme court, in proceeding against the tax exempt bonds.

The objection to this approach is that it doesn't attack the problem but takes an avestruck look at its muscle and concedes that it is too tough. And thus, although the tax amendment says congress may levy taxes on incomes from whatever source derived, a large portion of the total of employed persons in the country get their civilization at a discount, and a man with a million dollars in these bonds, or ten or 20 millions, is exempt from the obligation that hinders a man drawing $25 a week, if single.

Moreover, there are other great incomes from other sources derived which the treasury appears to regard with fear. These are the revenues of religious, charitable and educational organizations and of labor unions.

The present revenue act distinctly says that if a religious, charitable or educational institution shall engage in propaganda or otherwise attempt to influence legislation its income shall be subject to the tax, but, although there are flagrant and very attractive cases, the treasury is not interested. Mention the handsome possibilities of this unexploited field of income taxation to anyone in the treasury or the revenue and the pictures fall off the walls, women faint and strong men weep. For, although the amendment is plain and the money is there, the political risks take a kind of courage that isn't in the treasury or congress, and will continue to be enforced by ear.

COURT'S VIEWPOINT

Supreme court decisions have held that an organization in these classes engage in private revenue business, sell merchandise, run hotels for profit or rent valuable tax exempt lands in competition with the taxpayers and needn't even report the income, much less pay a tax on it. It would take only an act of the congress to destroy this interpretation, and no constitutional question would be involved, but there has been and will be no action for reasons which are obvious though not honest.

It is a curious idea, too, which holds that people in certain law brackets and too hard pressed for eating money and rent to be required to pay income taxes to the government may nevertheless be compelled to pay a similar tax to a labor union, but that the union itself needn't bother to pay.

In other words, a private income tax authority is permitted to work a field which the government avoided out of consideration for the necessities of the people and to impose penalties far worse than the government would inflict on people in those brackets even if it did tax them.

When the small fry default their federal income taxes they are merely required to come in and talk it over, and usually get away with a lecture and possibly a penalty of a couple of dollars. But a labor union may extort as much as a thousand dollars, on the line, for a license to work, plus annual dues and special assessments, plus an income tax of 3 per cent of the gross. And in case of default the union suspends the member's right to earn a living.

The treasury is, too fond of its reasons not to collect taxes from sources which might cause political headaches.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

Tire industry to be first target in drive against price-fixing; 14 firms twice submitted identical bids on government contract; fire equipment ordered on 19 ships after Merry-Go-Round expose; SEC gets evidence of heavy short selling in stock market slump.

WASHINGTON.—The tire industry has been secretly selected by the justice department as the first target in the drive against price-fixing which has been previously ordered by the President.

Prosecutions shortly will be launched against 14 manufacturers who submitted identical bids to the treasury. If present plans go through, these suits will be followed by another flock against a group of big newspaper producers.

Basis of the action against the tire-makers is evidence obtained by a wily stratagem of Robert Jackson, head of the justice department's anti-trust division, and Herman Oliphant, chief counsel of the treasury. The latter department called for bids on a large order of tires and tubes. Fourteen were received, every one identical down to the last fraction of a cent.

Jackson advised Oliphant to reject the bids on the ground of "evidence of collusion" and to ask for a new set.

"We've got these firms over a barrel," Jackson said. "Whatever they do they are in hot water. If they submit identical bids again it will be a confirmation of their collusion. If they don't it will be a confession that they got together the first time and are scared."

Oliphant followed Jackson's suggestion and new bids were called for. Again they were identical down to the last decimal point. Jackson immediately started preparations for court action.

Note—Despite the solid front of the 14 manufacturers, the government called in the tire expert of a large mail order firm, asked him what price he could offer. His figure was 25 per cent less, and he got the business.

BEACHED FOR REPAIRS

It was the President himself who ordered the Dollar Line to dock its three different ships and equip them with fire prevention safeguards before again carrying passengers.

Roosevelt issued his instruction after reading a Washington Merry-Go-Round account of how "Uncle Dan" Roper's commerce department not only had exempted the company from installing sprinkler systems, as required by a new law, but had given it an extension of time to put in less expensive "fire stops"—non-combustible cleats between floors and walls.

The law called for the installation of sprinkler systems on U. S. passenger ships by Oct. 1, 1937. A provision in the act permitting exceptions from this requirement "in the case of a particular vessel," the commerce department secretly authorized the Dollar Line to substitute "fire stops" in its 19 President ships.

The day after the President read the Merry-Go-Round disclosure, government inspectors received telegraphic orders to dock the vessels. One day later the company asked the U. S. Maritime commission for a $1,000,000 loan to install the required equipment. The request precipitated a hot war in the commission. Commissioner Edward Morgan vigorously opposed it because the company was in default on $14,000,000 already owed the government, urging that no more money be advanced until arrangements were made to ensure repayment of the overdue debt. After a two-hour argument, the Dollar Line proposal was vetoed by a 3-2 vote.

BEAR RAIDING

SEC suspicions that "bear raiding" (short selling) played a leading role in the recent stock market crash have been fully confirmed by a secret New York Stock exchange report.

The survey, made at the request of the commission, covered trading in five leading stocks for a period of three weeks. The SEC suspected that "bears" were short-circuiting prices, but when the exchange report was received, officials were astounded.

A 10 per cent proportion of total transactions would be an unusually high short interest. But the report disclosed that short sales were 22.7 per cent of the total volume of trading in the five stocks. In one of them it ran over 30 per cent.

When Commissioner Robert E. Healy examined the report he exclaimed: "Jumping Jupiter!" "Looks like we've got something there, eh, Judge?" remarked Chairman William Douglas. "It looks like the boys have been playing tricks."

MCGRADY'S SUCCESSOR

John Michael Carmody, two-fisted head of the Rural Electrification administration, is Secretary Perkins' private choice to succeed Edward F. McGrady as her first assistant secretary.

Carmody is no laborer. He is an engineer. But he stands well both with the A. F. of L. and the C.I.O., whose feuding has prevented appointment of a union man to the job. Also, Carmody is regarded by Roosevelt as one of the best executives in the government.

The difficulty in switching Carmody to the labor department is that he is not overly enthusiastic about being switched.

As REA boss he is running his own show. As assistant labor secretary he would be under Miss Perkins, and McGrady's experience was not the kind to make that post appealing. Whether he can be persuaded is problematical.

Meanwhile, the department is limping along, minus not only a successor to McGrady but without a second assistant secretary. The latter place has been unfilled for more than a year.

During a financial panic a farmer went to a bank for some money. He was told the bank was not paying out money but was using cashier's checks.

He could not understand this and insisted on money.

The officers took him in hand one after another, with little effect. At last the president tried his hand, and after a long and minute explanation, some inkling of the situation seemed to be dawning on the farmer's mind.

Much encouraged, the president said: "You understand now how it is, don't you?" "I think I do," admitted the farmer. "It's like this: When my baby wakes up at night and wants some milk, I give him a milk ticket."—Answers.

The Mailbag

Public opinion, or what somebody in office imagines to be public opinion, is often a very different thing from the opinion of the people. It is up and down like a roller coaster. There is a definite need for outspoken talking and thinking on public matters. Honest, intelligent fair discussion of our problems is immensely useful. So that every citizen may have his say and contribute to the formation of public opinion, The Journal invites letters to The Mailbag.

MORE, RESPECTING THE FLAG

To the Editor: When my article, "Respecting the Flag," was written, there was no suspicion upon my part that the mis-defining of one word would be used to misinterpret my meaning. The word "respecting," as it is used in this heading, means "in reference to, or concerning." Just that and only that.

As for respecting the flag, (now or then) there is no reverence or emotion where there is a normal mature person in all the country who can say he does not feel that emotion, that reverence. When I say that I have been homesick in a distant foreign land and come suddenly upon the sight of Old Glory floating in the breeze, I need say more, to the person who has had the same experience, about "reverence" for the flag? But I have, also in a foreign land, come suddenly upon a cluster of California poppies, the floral emblem of my native state, and thrilled with the same emotion, the same reverence, if I am to make some physical obeisance to my flag, must I not also do likewise to my flower?

There is a difference between respect and worship, even though it might be difficult for a non-discriminating mind to observe the difference. Generations of bloody southern religious wars were fought out upon that principle, and this country over which our proud flag waves was founded upon the concepts of freedom established as a result of those wars. I declare the right of every American to respect his flag in his own way, free from coercive prods of the mob and the hands of others, exactly as I declare his constitutional right to express his own peculiar religious convictions. I do not want to be forced to worship the flag of my country any more than I want to be forced to worship the visible representation of a god.

What I have said and what I shall always say is, that the growing custom of paying outward obeisance to the flag is leading to a form of worship which to me is abhorrent. I want to carry my respect in my heart, not on my sleeve or in my hat.

PAROLE SYSTEM
To the Editor: The most baffling problem that confronts our penal institutions is that of parole. To say that parole is a failure or a success is to say that it is a failure or a success in the eyes of the man who is to be paroled. It is a failure or a success in the eyes of the man who is to be paroled. It is a failure or a success in the eyes of the man who is to be paroled.

Between 13 and 16 billion dollars, six times the cost of public education, are being poured into the pockets of the World War veterans, and it was suggested we would be ready any time he had breakfast.

The broken home is one of the crimes. Only with proper environment and guidance can we expect to lessen the need of prison walls.

The average age of both male and female is 19; just when life should be full of promise to them. Nine times out of 10 a criminal's childhood training was in the wrong direction.

It is known in the penitentiary by a number of names of a broken inharmonious homelife.

It is easy to imprison and parole criminals, but the problem lies behind that. Until we stop crime and outlawry at its very source broken laws and social delinquencies will continue unabated.

Until the youth of this land realizes that crime does not pay, and that a standpoint of profits, socially and religiously, the more problems the penal institutions will have to face.

I'll Tell You

By BOB BURNS

I think the greatest injustice you can do a man is to judge him hastily. I'll bet a right now there ain't a one of us who ain't harboring some grudge against somebody because we figger he has misrepresented something to us but the chances are it's his own fault we'd give him a chance to explain he could clear the situation up in a minute.

My Uncle Skinny Flint runs a resort down home and he advertises that there is always a south wind blowing at his place. One day one of the country fellows, that's always enjoyin' poor health up in the chilly North, come down there just to get that southern breeze and sure 'nuf the first day he got there, a nice balmy breeze was blowing from the South; but the next morning, when he got up, it was chilly and a cold was blowin' in from the north.

This man went stormin' in to my uncle's office and he says "I thought you said you always had a south wind here!" My uncle says "Well, she was blowin' from the south yesterday, wasn't she?" The man says "Yeah," and my uncle says "Well that's her comin' back!"

WHIMSIES

DAY
BY DAY

With
O. O.
McINTYRE

NEW YORK.—Day is breaking after one of those stormy nights I love so well. Zigzags of brilliant lightning, crashes of thunder and rain in buckets. Out of the winnow all the universe seems refreshed, buoyant and glistening in the half light of morning.

Many sing the praises of India for its various mysteries. Its appeal to me is in its monsoons. No phenomenon has the wallop of dry earth soaking up a downpour and burrowing into lovely bloom. The chief charm of Paris is in those sudden flurries that make every Frenchman an umbrella carrier.

Often I have swum up from sound sleep, sluggish and weary with the gravity of affairs; heard the patter of rain and felt like kicking off the covers and indulging in a capriole. There is an after-rain fragrance, even among the man-made cliffs, that chirks the spirits.

The rain is responsible for being at my desk at 6 a. m., with nothing to say, but a surge to write. If I had the gift to turn out that literary will-o'-the-wisp, The Great American Novel, I'd like to do the job on a screened porch during a tropical rain at Pango Pango.

Out in a Pittsburgh suburb is a man of prominence who told me that he lived on a remote country estate solely because the isolation permitted him to wander through the grounds in shorts during the rains. Abraham Lincoln was keen for rain, and some of his monomaniacal decisions were made while trudging along in a downpour. Willie Collier's "Caught in the Rain" and Somerset Maugham's later "Rain." The outstanding hit of a successful movie revue showed a chorus dancing in the rain.

Snow has almost—but not quite—the emotional tug of rain for me. The picture I enjoy most in my meager collection is a Virginia snow scene by Percy Crosby. It's fun to get up early this way now and then and beat the barrier with a column. The early riser always interests me. Because I am a late sleeper as a rule, he seems from another world. I am the laggard of an early rising family. My father was always up at 5 a. m., a habit he could not break even after he retired. My grandfathers arose at 4 a. m.

Caught in a mistral while motoring, we were once forced to spend the night at a farmhouse near the French border, in San Sebastian, Spain. My gnarled host asked what time he should awaken us, and it was suggested we would be ready any time he had breakfast. Before daylight he knocked and brought in a tray of steaming and fiery fumados, filled with hot and burning native spices. It was a dish with the stimulating qualities of a triple brandy on an empty stomach. He said he had been up awhile but decided to let us sleep a little late. We were on our way before 4 a. m. I have been told that rural Spain has long been the earliest rising of all peoples. I can believe it.

I like to think of the sun as the eye of day. And somewhat like the eyes of man. Sometimes bright and sometimes bleary. We wonder in the calm of this breakdown how many men shufflin' in a few hours toward the cool tap and a long draught, mumbling "Never again!" A glance out the window reveals the earliest riser of the neighborhood. A jauntily dressed fellow followed by page boys who deposit a pile of blond luggage at the curb and a taxi chugs up. Catching a train, no doubt.

We went to see Gertrude Lawrence for the second time last night. She is one of the few actresses I just like to watch. Especially when she indulges one of those shimmery moods as unpredictable as a humming bird's flight. Not a great actress, in the manner of Katharine Cornell, but one perhaps with the most distinct following in the American theater. No longer a vogue, but an institution. That was a surprising lot of talent Andre Charlot shipped from England 15 years ago, then unknown, but now look! Miss Lawrence, Noel Coward, Jack Buchanan and Beatrice Lillie. And not one completely absorbed by Hollywood. We hear a pleasant rustle in the kitchen. The dog ambles in, indulges in a series of stretches and cocks his head quizzically, as much as to say: "What in the world are you doing around at this hour?"

PREVENTING A FIRE

A man was running very fast up the street when a policeman prevented him from crossing the road as vehicles approached. "What's the hurry?" said the constable. "Going to a fire?" "Well, not exactly," was the reply. "I was going to prevent one; the boss said that's what he'd do if I was late again, and I was hurrying to the office in time"—Montreal Star.
